Little Favour

By Patrick Viktor Monroe

Thank you for a lovely evening.
Prick!
It's totally understandable that you feel this way.

they're expendable.
You're gonna do this.
He didn't make it.
I've seen this look before.
I didn't think you would come.
Why would you think not?
Well, I don't know.
Maybe because I never hear from you.
I need to call in our favour, Ace.
Good.
It's good to know.
Sweetheart.
You remember my Lilah, don't you.
Y-Yeah, of course.
This is Wallace.
You remember Wallace from the photographs?
Yeah.
Hi.

I don't have anyone else.
What happened?
Bad deal just got worse.
Now I can't handle that with one hand and make good with the other.
It's just a few days.
You owe me for this!
Okay.
What are you?
Strong.
What have you got?
Purpose.
And where are you?
I'm here.

I love you.
I know.
She'll be fine.
I love you.
I know.
That's me.
Hold on a sec.
I have lost James.
He left his kid with an old friend.
Done.
Da.
Go.
Here.
Do you want me to, uhm... take your bag or anything?
No, I'm good.
Ahem...
...I've got some...
...cold pizza.
Had some cold pizza.
Yeah.
I know. It's just. I can't talk.
Alright.

calls for his henchmen
I'm alright. It will be okay.
Don't, he's got all achey.
Now.
I know that you don't know
where is your daddy.
But I think that your friend Ace
he does know.

And he is going to start to talk or you are going to be scarred for the rest of your life.

No, no, no, no, no, we don't want to Listen to me very carefully...

So you're going to let me go and message to others.

Sure.

Lilah,

I knew I could count on you.
