

Scripts.com

Russian Lolita

By Unknown

RUSSIAN LOLITA:

Mom, did you buy anything for dessert?

Pumpkin, we've got money problems.

OK, I get it.

- Maybe we should rent out one of our rooms, what d'you think? - No way!

But that will help us solve many problems.

Uh-uh, and create new ones.

Then I don't know what to do.

Do whatever you want.

Hi, could you tell me how to get to 16 Commune street?

Cross the road there, walk 500 metres and you'll see it.

About 500 metres this way, then?

Thanks.

Sorry! I was looking at the birdies, didn't notice you.

Can you show me where Commune Street is?

What address are you looking for?

OK, let me show you.

- Are you planning to move in there?

- Yes, why?

Don't you have a place to live in the city?

Yes, but I like to spend time out here.

You don't look like a wood chopping type to me.

What makes you think I'm a a wood chopper?

- What else would you do around around here?

- I am a writer.

True, you don't look strong enough for chopping wood.

- Only I wouldn't rent that room if I were you. - Why not?

- Haven't you heard about the landlord it belongs to? - No, why?

The landlord is a crazy woman known for her outbursts.

She chased the last tenant away with a knife.

- Are you serious?

- Ask anybody around here.

This is 13 Commune Street.

But I warned you. Bye!

OK, let's see.

Hello!

Hi, do you sublet the room?

Yes, please come in, my name is Olga.

I'm Gennady, a writer, I'd like to work in the country for awhile.

Well, nice to meet you.

This is the kitchen.

Come take a look here.

This is your room, it's very spacy, you'll be very comfortable here.

I see

Let me show upstairs

- Watch you step
- You've got a nice place.
- This is living room
- OK

Thanks for the tour. It's nice house but I need to think it over.

Let me introduce my daughter Alisa.

You know what, I just made up my mind

I'll take the room.

- How was your first night in a new place?
- Loved it.
- How do you like my blinis?
- Thank you, they're very tasty.
- More tea?
- Yes, please.

Been a long time since we had a man in the house.

How about a drink?

I don't mind.

"Zemfira", that's a nice one.

Thanks.

- What about me?
- You're too young.

I was hoping you'll say a toast before drinking.

To us and you enjoying your stay here!

To us!

Listen, haven't you had enough?

- What's going on here?

- She's just fooling around.

To us.

To us.

My husband left us two years ago

He has remarried by now.

So you don't keep in touch

even for Alisa's sake?

He wrote once, asked if we needed money.

I let him know that we want nothing from him.

So what was his reaction?

He disappeared, no calls, no letters, that was that. Just as I wanted.

Do you still love him?

I only loved him before Alisa's birth.

Soon after, he stopped noticing me and would stay out longer and longer.

Arguments,

scandals and then total indifference.

So him leaving was no tragedy for me or Alisa.

- So Alisa doesn't remember her father?

- No.

Do you have a boyfriend?

I tried to secure my daughter's future so I had no time for myself.

But sometimes at night I'd feel sorry for myself and cry.

Gennady, you know you're my first man since my husband left me.

So did I disappoint you?

No, I feel great, I just don't want Alisa to find out about us.

Why?

I don't know.

I feel uncomfortable about it.

So that's why you deny yourself any personal life?

I am a fool, I know.

I think Alisa would be jealous of somebody else getting my attention.

But I still want you very much.

You know what, in two hours,

when she goes to sleep, come to my room.

- Hey look, someone's in the yard!

- Who? Where?

- There's no one there.

- Probably ran away.

- You didn't like it?

- No thanks, I'm just full.

"My last days before travel..."

- It's not nice to read somebody else's letters - I thought writers write novels
Never mind, give it back to me.

Gennady, you wanna hear a joke?

- Later.

- I'll forget so I'll better tell now.

Alisa leave me alone in a toilet,
at least.

I won't bother you.

Keep doing whatever it is you're doing.

Hi. You aren't upset with me, are you?

- You misbehave. - I have no father, so who's to teach me how to behave?

Gennady let's make a girl out of you.

It's my lifelong dream.

Gennady, what are you writing about?

- Of love, friendship, loyalty.

- Sounds like you're into science fiction.

Enough of your sarcastic remarks!

Who are the main characters of your novel?

Characters? Characters...

Well... men..and..women..

What's wrong, Gennady?

Nothing. I just don't like talking about the book before it's finished.

Well, just tell us about yourself.

Gennady what do you need these things here for?

To smack flies with them.

I've seen a lot of those 'fly killers'
when I was in summer camp.

- What was that?

- I think Alisa's still awake.

You better go or she'll suspect something.

I'm going.

- You look odd today.

- I don't feel too well.

You need to rest more.

- Why don't you take a walk?

- I'll do that.

- What you got there?

- This is for you.

And this is for your mom.

You know, I was thinking: How long can we hide our relationship from Alisa?

I think we should tell her.

She's old enough to understand.

I don't think it's a good idea.

It's up to you, really.

Thank you for the candies!

- I was reading your magazine...

- Who let you go through my stuff?

I just can't get used to seeing your things in my closet.

- Pumpkin, I need to talk to you.

- What about?

- Me and Gennady.

- You got knocked up?

So you know about us?

How can I not know?

You keep me up all night with your moaning.

Can you keep it down a little?

Morning.

How was last night with mom?

- Wanna hear about the dream I had?

- OK.

- Only it's sexual.

- Then don't tell.

Let me just whisper it in your ear.

...and that's how the dream ended.

- More tea?

- Yes, please.

You interfere with my work.

I don't care. I'll call you Croc from now on, that's your new nickname.

Listen, Croc.

Show me how you kiss mom at night.

Ugh!

What's so great about that?

Croc thanks for keeping my panties in your pocket.

- Croc, do you have hair in your belly?

- Yes, I do.

- Let's take a look.

- What for?

Oh, where does it lead?

Come on, let me see!

So that's where the hairiest place is.

- Croc, can you help me?

- With pleasure.

Croc, I want you to wash me.

Croc, I don't want you to go to mom tonight.

I can't do that.

You hurt me. I won't forgive you.

I'm going to punish you.

What sort of punishment do you choose?

Ugh, you're disgusting!

I'm going to the market,
pick up something for you.

- Get me some cherries.

- I know. I'm coming!

Alisa, it's you again with your silly games.

Interesting.

So what are you planning to do with it?

What are you doing?

No.

Call Gennady, we'll have some fruit.

Gennady, I hope Alisa doesn't interfere with your work?

No, quite opposite.

Having her around inspires me.

Does having me around inspire you?

It does, in different way.

- Can you tell us the difference in detail?

- Alisa, think before you talk.

Thinking is for adults, not a young girl like me.

You silly girl!

Go to your room!

I'm going now, but I'll be back.

OK, Mom?

I'm going to the city.
Behave yourself.
What? What happened?
I don't feel too good. Let's do it tomorrow night. I'll go to my room, ok?
Mom'off to the city.
Getting a tan? You look pretty.
When will you come back to my room?
Croc, I don't want to do it anymore.
I don't want to share you.
It's either me or her.
If your Mom finds out about us,
it'll be all over. Understand?
Me or her. Make a choice.
- I can't make that choice.
- Goodbye, then.
- What's with you today, pumpkin?
- Leave me alone!
I've got a surprise for you.
I'll show you tonight.
What kind of surprises can you expect at night, it's just silly.
So will you come?
- Alisa, come on!
- I'm coming!
What's going on?
I didn't mean to upset you,
but I have been feeling some discomfort in my lower stomach lately.
- I may need to see a doctor.
- You got painkillers?
I already took some.
OK.
- You know, I choose you.
- What about mom?
- You'll never go back to her?
- Never.
- OK, I'll come over tonight.
- I'll be waiting.
I'm going shopping.
Clean the kitchen while I'm gone.
She went shopping!
- Hello neighbour. Where are you going?
- Shopping, Alisa's at home.

- Alone with your tenant?
- Yes, why?
- What are you driving at?
- Never mind. Bye.

I want you to pack your things and leave immediately.

Alisa, open the door.

I just want to talk to you.

OK, then we'll talk later.