Kramer vs. Kramer

By Robert Benton FADE IN:
1INT. OFFICE, ADVERTISING AGENCY, MIDTOWN - EVENING
WIDE SHOT--A large and very comfortable office overlooking St. Patrick's Cathedral. At the moment the office is filled to bursting with men and women, slumped in chairs, sitting on desks, all of them very tense. Among the crowd of people we note: MURRAY FISHER, a young and very ambitious junior executive and PHYLLIS BERNARD, an attractive woman in her early thirties. She is a lawyer with the agency.
At the moment, TED KRAMER, nice-looking without being what you would call a matinee idol, paces back and forth. His tie is loosened, he checks his watch every fifteen seconds. Clearly he is very distraught.

TED:
(predicting the worst)
They're not gonna call...I tell you they're not gonna call. I blew it. I don't know what I did wrong, but I--

REVERSE ON JIM O'CONNOR--Ted's boss and good friend. He is in his middle fifties, nattily dressed with the slightly bleary look of a heavy drinker. He sits back in his chair with his feet propped on the desk and a drink in one hand.

O'CONNOR
(not unfriendly)
Ted, will you take it easy? Revlon's not about to drop an account that represents more than two million in gross billing receipts in a small agency like this, without making us sweat. Now just relax, okay? Everything's gonna be fine.

TED:
(at this stage, nothing will help)
I don't think so, Jim. Maybe I shouldn't have-- Sound-effect:
Everyone freezes. As O'Connor reaches for the phone,

CUT TO:
2A    INT. CHILD'S ROOM, KRAMER APT. - EVENING
The room is dark, the only light coming from a small night light. We SEE a beautiful five year old boy (BILLY KRAMER). He lies in bed, half asleep. HOLD FOR A BEAT as a beautiful woman (JOANNA KRAMER) leans over, kisses the child and hugs him tightly to her.

JOANNA: (intense)
I love you, Billy...

BILLY:
(drowsy)
I love you too, mommy...Goodnight...
ON JOANNA--She gets up from the bed and starts toward the door of the child's room.

JOANNA:
Sleep tight...

BILLY:
Don't let the bedbugs bite...
Joanna stops in the doorway, silhouetted against the light. She turns, takes a last look at her son, then steps outside.

CUT TO:
3INT. HALLWAY - EVENING
ON JOANNA--Now that the light is brighter, we can SEE her more clearly. In her mid-thirties, she is beautiful, dressed in a style that can best be described as Bloomingdale's. HOLD FOR A BEAT as she leans against the doors. It is clear from her expression that she is terribly upset. Then, making up her mind, she crosses to a closet and takes out a suitcase.
4THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HER as she carries it into the bedroom, lays it out on the bed and opens it. PAN WITH HER as she crosses to a closet, grabs an armload of clothes and dumps them helter-skelter into the suitcase.

CUT TO:
5INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - EVENING
It is a few minutes later, the news has obviously been good because there is a general celebration in progress. Jim O'Connor, now standing, raises one hand for silence, then making a toast.
O'CONNOR
Here's to Ted Kramer.
Cheers and good-natured jokes.
O'CONNOR
(putting an arm around Ted squeezing him tight)
I wanna tell you something about this little runt. He went out there and sold the shit out of Revlon and that's why we got the account. It was his idea, it was his concept, right down the line...
More hoots and cheers. People start to yell "Speech."

TED: (embarrassed, but cannot stop grinning)
All I can say...All I can say is this is maybe one of the five best days of my whole life...

CUT TO:
6INT. BATHROOM, KRAMER APT. - EVENING
Joanna stands at the medicine cabinet, going through it, packing things in a travel kit: rollers, deodorant, makeup, birth control pills. She starts to take a small bottle of perfume that has only an eighth of an inch of fluid left inside, hesitates, then puts it back.

CUT TO:
7INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - EVENING
Now some time has passed, most of the crowd has gone and only the regulars are left.
TED:
(in the middle of a story)
So anyway Jim and I are making the pitch, right? And all of a sudden this old guy starts to cough and I keep on going and he keeps on coughing and I keep on going and he keeps on coughing and-- Murray Fisher leans over, shakes Ted's hand.

MURRAY:
(interrupting)
Congratulations, Ted. That was a hell of a job.

TED:
(surprised)
Where you goin' Murray, it's early?

MURRAY:
Got to get home.

TED:
(glancing at his watch)
Oh, Christ, I'm late...I gotta get out of here.
(however, instead of going, he settles back and resumes his story)
So anyway, I look over and this old geezer is starting to turn blue and I swear to God the only thing I can think about is that this poor sonofabitch is gonna die on me and screw up the pitch.

CUT TO:
8INT. KITCHEN, KRAMER APT. - EVENING
out of the phone numbers and addresses of doctors and hospitals, of what the various medicines are for, and of the foods that Billy is and isn't permitted to eat. WIDER ANGLE--as Joanna puts the finishing touches on the list and carefully arranges it on top of the kitchen counter next to a box of unsweetened, whole grain cereal and a jar of honey.

Note:
unthinkingly throw away.

CUT TO:

9EXT. OFFICE BUILDING, MIDTOWN - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--as the doors to the outer lobby open and Ted and O'Connor appear. Ted starts to hail a cab, O'Connor stops him.

O'CONNOR
Hey, what's the rush? C'mon, walk me a couple of blocks.

TED:
Jim, I've got to go. I'm already late--

O'CONNOR
Listen, Ted...I just want to tell you, when old man Schmidt retires next year, I've got a pretty good feeling they'll kick me upstairs...
He turns and starts to walk off down the street, Ted, of course, follows.

O'CONNOR
...and when they do, I just want you to know I'm takin' you along with me.

CUT TO:

10 INT. BEDROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
CLOSE ON JOANNA--as she goes through her jewelry case, taking some things, leaving others. In the B.G. we SEE a framed photograph of Billy, smiling, looking into the camera.
ON TED AND O'CONNOR--tracking with them as they walk.
O'CONNOR
(feeling no pain)
Y'know, Ted, I mean what I said back there. You did a hell of a job on this and I want you to know I'm turning the whole show over to you.

TED: (thrilled) Wow!

O'CONNOR
I mean it Ted, you're running this one.

WIDE SHOT--The suitcase is now full. Joanna zips it shut and looks around to make sure that she hasn't forgotten anything.
Then, she hefts her suitcase and starts out of the room.

WIDE SHOT--Joanna carries in the suitcase, sets it by the front door, then she crosses to the living room and sits down at the dining table.
CLOSER IN ON HER--She takes out a list made on the back of an old envelope. As she begins to review it, checking off some items:

O.S. Sound:
As Joanna looks up,

HER P.O.V.: an enormous grin on his face, a bottle of champagne in his hand. He is so full of himself that he doesn't notice there is anything wrong.
Note: of champagne, never putting it down.

TED:
I thought you might just like to know that at five-fifteen this afternoon we were officially handed the Fire and Ice account by Revlon.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM:

JOANNA:
(she takes a deep breath, then):
Ted, I'm leaving you.

TED:
That represents a gross billing in excess of two million-- (hearing her)
What?!
Joanna opens her purse, takes out her keys and wallet.

JOANNA:
Here are my keys. I won't be needing them any more.

Note: will really leave him. All he can think of right now is that he will have to spend the rest of the evening coping with one of her moods.

TED:
(sardonic)
I'm sorry I'm late, all right?
I'm sorry I didn't call--I was busy making a living.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM: Joanna doesn't even bother to look up at him. She opens her purse, takes out her wallet and begins removing credit cards.

JOANNA:
My American Express...My Bloomingdale's Credit Card...
My check book--

TED:
(the martyr)
Okay, okay...What is it this time? What did I do now?...

JOANNA:
(ignoring this)
I took two thousand out of the savings account. That was what I had in the bank when we got married.

TED:
Joanna, whatever it is, believe me, I'm sorry.

JOANNA:
Here are the slips for the laundry and the cleaning. They'll be ready on Saturday.

TED:
(hard lining it)
Now listen, before you do something you'll really regret you'd better stop and think--

JOANNA:
(not bothering to look up)
I've paid the rent, the Con-Ed and the phone bill, so you don't have to worry about them.
She checks off the last item on her list as her husband watches, dumbfounded.

JOANNA:
There, that's everything.
Joanna gets to her feet and starts toward the front door. In an instant Ted is after her.
TED:
(panic starting)
For God's sake, Joanna, would you at least tell me what I did that's so terrible! Would you do me that little favor?
ON JOANNA--at the door.

JOANNA:
Look, it's not your fault, okay? It's me. It's my fault--you just married the wrong person.

TED:
(placating her)
So we've got problems. Everybody's got problems--that's normal-- Joanna opens the door and they step out into the hallway.

14 INT. HALLWAY OUTSIDE KRAMER APT. - EVENING

JOANNA:
Ted, you're not listening to me. It's over, finished.

TED:
I'm listening, Joanna--believe me, I'm listening. My wife is walking out on me after eight years of--

JOANNA:
(bitter)
You just don't get it, do you?
(as though to a child)
I - am - really - and - truly - leaving - you.

TED:
I heard you, Joanna. I promise I heard you.

JOANNA:
No you didn't.
(quietly)
You didn't even ask about Billy.
TED:
(stiffening)
What about Billy?

JOANNA:
I'm not taking him with me.

TED:
What?

JOANNA:
(tears start)
Ted, I can't...I tried...I really tried but...I just can't hack it anymore...

TED:
C'mon, Joanna, you don't mean that. You're a terrific mother--

JOANNA:
(from her gut)
I am not! I'm a terrible mother! I'm an awful mother. I yell at him all the time. I have no patience. No...No. He's better off without me.
(unable to look at Ted)
Ted, I've got to go...I've got to go.

TED:
(desperate)
Okay, I understand and I promise I won't try and stop you, but you can't just go...Look, come inside and talk...Just for a few minutes.

JOANNA:
(pleading)
NO!...Please...Please don't make me stay...I swear...If you do, sooner or later...maybe tomorrow, maybe next week...maybe a year from now...
(looking directly at him)
I'll go right out the window.

Sound-effect:
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM--There is nothing more that can be done, this is the last moment of intimacy.

TED:
(quiet)
Where are you going?

JOANNA:
I don't know...
The elevator door opens, Joanna steps inside.

TED:
Do you want me to help you get a cab?
Joanna shakes her head. The elevator door closes behind her and it starts to descend.
ON TED KRAMER--He stands for a moment, stunned, unable to move. Then he turns and races back into the apartment.
15 THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as he rushes across to one of the living room windows, throws it open and leans out.
16 HIS P.O.V.: looking down to the street from the eighth floor. We SEE Joanna step off the curb and hail a passing taxi.

TED:
(calling out)
Joanna!?.. .Joanna?!
Either she doesn't hear him or else she pays no attention. She gets into the cab, closes the door behind her and it drives away.

CUT TO:
17 INT. APT. - NIGHT
ON TED--as he stands for a moment watching the taxi as it disappears. Then, slowly, he closes the window, turns, and AS THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM, walks into the bedroom.

The bedroom is a mess: the closet door stands open, inside Joanna's section is empty except for some shoe-boxes and a few dresses that are scattered across the floor. Several dresser drawers have been pulled out and their contents emptied. HOLD IN A WIDE SHOT—as Ted wearily picks up one of the dresses and hangs it back on its hanger in its proper place, ready for Joanna's return. As he continues straightening up the room, THE CAMERA SLOWLY FADES TO BLACK.

FADE IN:

18 INT. LIVING ROOM - VERY LATE AT NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--Ted Kramer paces back and forth, eyeing the phone. Then, coming to a decision, he crosses to it, picks up the receiver and starts to dial.

CUT TO:

19 EXT. APT. BLDG. - LATE AT NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--The building is dark except for the Kramer apartment which is ablaze with lights. HOLD as we HEAR:

Sound: WOMAN'S VOICE
(obviously asleep)
Huh... Hello?

TED: (righteous)
All right, Thelma... That's it. I've had it. You can call your good friend Joanna Kramer and tell her enough is enough, okay? I mean, I don't know what I did, but you can tell her she's made her point.

WOMAN'S VOICE
Ted, what are you talking about?!

TED:
Don't play innocent with me, Thelma. You know perfectly well what's going on.

WOMAN'S VOICE
(exasperated)
Ted, I don't understand a word you're saying. Where's Joanna?

TED:
Ha! You tell me.

Sound-effect, as Ted slams down the receiver.

20 Instantly a light is turned on two floors below.

CUT TO:
21 INT. FOYER, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT

ON THE FRONT DOOR--as we HEAR:

Sound-effect:
A moment later Ted opens the door and THELMA PHILLIPS enters. She is a neighbor (Apt. 6-B) and Joanna Kramer's best friend. About four months ago Thelma and her husband Charley were divorced. Until then the two families had been very close, the Kramer's son (Billy) being about the same age as the Phillips' daughter (Kim). With the divorce, however, the Kramers tried to remain friends with both Thelma and Charley and that has caused a certain amount of friction. Thelma is an attractive woman in her mid-thirties. She dresses well, works out religiously at Jack LaLanne's and goes to a therapist twice a week. She is also given to acting the lay analyst with her friends. Thelma is generous with her advice, sharing the wealth so to speak. With all of this she is kind, loyal and a loving friend. At the moment, however, she is all business.

THELMA:
(looking around, suspiciously)
All right. What's going on?

ON TED--From his attitude it is clear that there is no love lost between them.

TED:
All right, Thelma, you want to know what's going on? I'll tell you what's going on. I'll tell you exactly what's going on.

THELMA:
Look, Ted, all I--

TED:
(starting to really roll)
I came home tonight. We just got the Fire and Ice account at the agency. Do you know what that means?! Do you understand what that means? It means that it was maybe one of the five best days in my whole life.

THELMA:
Ted, all I wanted to know was where--

TED:
(not letting her get a word in edgewise)
I walk in the house and before I can say "How are you?", "Did you have a nice day?" before I can say anything. Pow she's out the door.

THELMA:
OhmyGod. Didn't she say anything? She must've said something.

TED:
(sarcastic)
Yeah, she said it wasn't any use talking anymore.

THELMA:
Ted, don't be so hostile.
Ted draws himself upright with the dignity of the Ambassador to the Court of St. James. However, during the following, he begins pounding the pillows on the couch into shape with real vehemence.
TED: Hostile?
(pow) Me?
(whack)
Thelma, I'm not hostile.
(thud)
I am anything but hostile.
(sock)
But if you want to know what I am. I'll tell you what I am.
What I am is, I am hurt. I am very hurt. And I just want to know one thing, okay? Just one thing
...Why? That's all I want to know...Why?

THELMA:
(how to say this) Ted, Joanna and I used to talk a lot and...well, she told me a lot of...ah, things about the two of you.

TED:
(instantly nervous)
Things? What kind of things?

THELMA:
(clearly she knows more than she's willing to say) I mean...things. Ted, Joanna's very unhappy and--

TED:
-flash of anger
Listen, Joanna Kramer's got a goddamn good life. She's got a husband that loves her. She's got a terrific kid. She's got a wonderful home--
THELMA:
(getting mad herself)
What d'you know about how Joanna felt? You went off to an office every morning and you'd come dragging home at seven or eight every night and as long as dinner was on the table you thought everything was swell.

TED:
Did it ever occur to you guys that Joanna Kramer's not the easiest person in the world to live with?! Did it?! For one thing she's always thirty minutes late. You can set your watch by it--

THELMA:
(exasperated)
So she's late. What's the big deal. That's just a way of saying, "Pay attention to me."

TED:
(not listening)
Two. She is getting to be a real hermit or recluse or whatever it is you call it. Thelma, do you know where I could be in this business if I had a wife that entertained or went out socially--

THELMA:
Oh for shit's sake, Ted, you are the most selfish human being I have ever met. No wonder she said you came first, then Billy, then, if there was anything left over, she got the scraps.

TED:
Joanna said that?
Thelma nods.

TED:
Then how come she never said anything like that to me?

THELMA:
Maybe she didn't feel like she should have to. Maybe she felt like if you'd been paying any real attention to her to start with, maybe you would've noticed.

TED:
(stung)
Boy, you guys are really something, y'know? I'd like to know one thing, okay--just one little thing. Did you tell Joanna she should leave me?

THELMA:
(stiffly)
No.
She turns and starts toward the front door, Ted at her heel.

TED:
Y'know something Thelma--you are the typhoid Mary of divorce. I mean it. Joanna and I never had any trouble until you and Charley split up.

THELMA:
Ted, divorce is a terrible thing. I know, I went through it. You've got to believe I did everything I could to get Joanna to stay.
(pause)
But I'll tell you something.
You may not want to hear it, but it took a lot of courage for Joanna to do what she just did.

TED:
I'd like to know what the hell kind of courage it takes to walk out on your husband and your child?
CLOSE ON THELMA--That stops her dead in her tracks.
She had always assumed that Joanna took Billy with her when she left.

THELMA:
Joanna left Billy? She didn't take him with her?
Ted shakes his head. There is a long beat of silence.

THELMA:
(stunned, quiet)
Oh Shit.

CUT TO:

FADE IN:

22    EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - EARLY MORNING
WIDE SHOT--It is a beautiful sunny morning and the super stands in front of the building hosing down the sidewalk. HOLD as a garbage truck enters FRAME and the garbage men begin loading sacks of trash into the back of the truck. As it begins to grind up the garbage with an ungodly sound, THE CAMERA PANS UP TO THE EIGHTH FLOOR WINDOWS.

CUT TO:

23    INT. BILLY KRAMER'S BEDROOM - EARLY MORNING
MED. SHOT--Billy Kramer lies in his bed, fast asleep.
HOLD FOR A BEAT as we HEAR:

O.S. Sound:
grinding up garbage.
A moment later, Billy opens his eyes, struggles to his feet and, AS THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM, trudges sleepily out of his room, across the hall and into the bathroom.
24    INT. BATHROOM - EARLY MORNING
As the child stands in front of the toilet, eyes closed, we HEAR:

O.S. Sound-effect: as the child pees noisily.
Then, when he is finished, he turns and, without bothering to flush the toilet, shuffles down the hall and into his parents' bedroom.
25    HIS P.O.V.: The bed is empty, there is no sign that anyone has slept in it.
ON BILLY--a look of suspicion on his face, he turns and starts back down the hall toward the living room.
26    INT. LIVING ROOM - EARLY MORNING
As Billy enters, looks around.

HIS P.O.V.:
like the wrath of God is asleep in the chair.
ON BILLY--as he marches across to his father.

BILLY:
Where's mommy?
ON TED--His eyes open, he looks around startled.

TED:
Huh?...Oh God...What time is it?
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM:

BILLY:
(suspicious)
The little hand is on the six and the big hand is on the nine.
Where is mommy?

TED:
(trying to pull himself together)
Oh, Christ...Ah, yeah...you want to know why mom's not here, right?
Billy nods.

TED:
(bullshit)
Okay, I'm going to tell you...
It's like this. Mommy and daddy had a little argument and mommy decided she wanted to go off by herself for a little while. You know how sometimes you get mad and want to go off and be by yourself? Well, it's like that, okay? Okay.

(subject closed)

Now how about some breakfast?
Ted struggles to his feet and THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH THEM as they start toward the kitchen.

BILLY:
When is mommy coming back?

TED:
(lying) Soon. Very soon.

By now they are inside the kitchen, Ted looks around.

TED:
(the camp counselor)
I'll tell you what, kiddo--why don't I fix us some French toast?

BILLY: (impressed)
Wow! French toast, really?

TED:
(the camp counselor)
Sure. Didn't I ever tell you French toast was my specialty? I'll bet I never told you that. Now then, the first thing we need is...
(trying desperately to remember)
... eggs! Right?
Billy nods. Ted opens the refrigerator and takes some eggs.

TED:
This is terrific ... isn't this terrific?
As Ted begins the process of making French toast, it soon becomes obvious that he has no idea of what he is doing. What follows is a symphony in incompetence on Ted's part. He breaks the eggs into a bowl and ends up with most of the shell mixed up with the egg. Then he takes a piece of bread and drops it into bowl.

TED:
(saying it will make it so)
I'm having a good time... Are you having a good time?
ON BILLY--watching all of this with increasing apprehension.

BILLY:
You forgot the milk.

TED:
(still the camp counselor)
That's right. You're absolutely right... It's been a long time since I made French toast.
Ted takes a container of milk, pours it into the bowl so that it is filled to the brim. Then he sloshes the bread around until it is half-dissolved.

TED:
Look at this, isn't this something?!
He lops off a huge hunk of butter, drops it into an omelet pan and turns up the flame.
ON BILLY--watching. He looks as though he is about to throw up.
BILLY:
What about my orange juice?

TED:
(the counterman)
Right. One O.J. coming up.
He opens the refrigerator and starts to get the orange juice. As he does, black smoke begins to billow ominously from the frying pan.

BILLY:
(scared) Daddy!!!
Ted turns, spots the smoke.

TED:
Don't worry... Everything's fine...
He lunges for the handle of the frying pan, which by now is very hot. He grabs it, lets out a howl of pain and the whole mess, frying pan, butter, bread, goes crashing to the floor.
CLOSE ON TED--Suddenly all the rage comes pouring out.

TED:
Goddam! Son of a bitch!
REACTION, BILLY--terrified.
WIDE SHOT--as Ted kneels down and begins to clean up the mess.

TED:
(to himself as much as to Billy)
It's okay. It's gonna be okay...
Everything's going to be all right.

CUT TO:
28    EXT. STREET - DAY
ON A BUS--as it pulls to a stop. The doors open and a stream of mothers and children get off. Among them we spot Ted Kramer with Billy. As they start across the street, Ted reaches down and takes hold of Billy's hand. The moment they get to the far side, Billy takes his hand away from Ted's and wipes it on his pants. Clearly Ted's hands are very sweaty.

CLOSER IN ON THEM: As they start down the block toward Billy's school.

CLOSER IN ON THEM

BILLY:
When is mommy coming back?

TED:
Soon. I told you before, very soon.

BILLY:
(nervous)
Will she pick me up after school?

TED:
No. If I'm not here, you go home with Thelma and Kim.

BILLY:
What if she forgets?

TED:
(weary)
I'll call Thelma and remind her, okay? Don't worry.

They walk in silence for a few steps, then:

BILLY:
But what happens if she's on her way to school and she gets runned over by a truck and killed? What happens then?

Ted looks at Billy in amazement.

WIDE SHOT--as the two of them enter the school and disappear from view.

CUT TO:
29 INT. OFFICE, TED'S AGENCY- DAY

ON THE ELEVATOR DOORS--as they open and Ted steps out looking like the wrath of God. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as he crosses the waiting room toward the inner offices.
ON THE RECEPTIONIST--glancing up as he passes.

RECEPTIONIST:
(cheerful)
Congratulations, Mr. Kramer.
ON TED--looking at her like she has lost her mind.
Nevertheless he continues on, passing through swinging doors into a long corridor lined with secretaries' desks and offices leading off of it. Suddenly a younger man rushes up, grabs Ted's hand and starts to pump it vigorously.

YOUNG MAN:
Terrific news, Ted.
Another nut. Ted smiles at the man, humoring him and continues toward his office. O'Connor appears, throwing his arm around Ted, squeezing him in a bear hug.
O'CONNOR
Hey...Look who was out celebrating last night.
Suddenly Ted realizes that all these people are congratulating him for getting the Fire and Ice account.

TED:
(trying to appear nonchalant)
Uh, Jim...Can I talk to you?

CUT TO:
30 INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - DAY
Ted and O'Connor sitting across from one another.
O'Connor has just heard the news.
O'CONNOR
Jesus Christ. That's a real blockbuster.
(shakes his head)
I always figured you guys had it made.

TED:
(morose)
You want to know the real kicker? The real kicker is, for the first time in my life-- the first time--I feel like a loser.
O'Connor nods sympathetically. Actually he is praying that Ted won't start to cry.
O'CONNOR
(stiff upper lip)
Listen, don't let it get you down.
(doesn't believe it for a second)
You're going to be fine.

TED:
(toujour gai)
Me? I've never been better.
I mean having my wife walk out on me after seven years of marriage agrees with me just fine.
O'CONNOR
Look, Ted, I'm the oldest whore on the beat, okay? Three marriages, two divorces...You're gonna be okay.

TED:
(wishful thinking)
I'm going to be okay. The way
I see it, Joanna'll come home, it's just a matter of time.
O'CONNOR
(emphatically) She'll be back...
Ted nods in agreement. There is a beat of silence as both men consider Joanna's imminent return. Then:
O'CONNOR
(trying to be tactful)
But...just in case...I mean, just on the off chance she doesn't.
What are you going to do about the kid?

TED:
(the wind goes out of him)
I don't know, Jim. This whole thing has happened so...Pow--like that.
O'CONNOR
(a friend having to say something very difficult)
Look, it's none of my business, so you can tell me to butt out, okay? But if you want my advice, you'll send Billy away to stay with relatives for a while. Just until you get yourself straightened out.

TED:
(doubtfully)
I don't know, Jim...
O'CONNOR
(the Dutch uncle)
Ted, this may sound a little rough, but we've just landed the biggest account in the history of this agency, right? And now it's up to us--that's you and me--to deliver the goods. Ted, you're my main man, and if I can't depend on you a hundred and ten percent, twenty-four hours a day, because you're worried about a kid with a runny nose--

TED:
Jim, I appreciate what you're saying. I mean it, but I really think Joanna's coming back.
ON O'CONNOR--clearly he doesn't believe this.
O'CONNOR
I hope you're right, Ted...I really hope you're right.

CUT TO:
INT. FOYER, KRAMER APT. - DAY

INSERT:
Denver, Colorado. The letter is addressed to Billy Kramer and it is from Joanna.
ON TED--as he rips open the letter.

TED:
Billy!
ON BILLY--He sits in the living room watching television, a chocolate doughnut in one hand and a remote control device for watching television in the other.
Off-screen Sound: a Saturday morning kiddie program from the television set.

BILLY:
(focused on T.V.)
Uh, huh...

TED:
You got a letter from mom.
Instantly, Billy turns down the volume of the television.

BILLY: (excited)
When is she coming home?!
ON TED--as he starts to read, slowly, carefully, so that Billy can absorb it.

TED:
"My dear, sweet Billy: Mommy has gone away. Sometimes in the world daddies go away and mommies bring up their little boys. But sometimes a mommy can go away too, and you have your daddy to bring you up."
As Ted continues to read, Billy starts turning up the sound on the television, using the remote control device.

TED:
(raising his voice so he can be heard)
"I have gone away because I must find some interesting things to do for myself in the world. Everybody has to, and so do I. Being your mommy was one thing, but there are other things and this is what I have to do. I did not get a chance to tell you this, and that is why I am writing you now."

By now the volume from the television is so loud that Ted has to shout to make himself heard over it.

TED:
"I will always be your mommy and I will always love you. I just won't be your mommy in the house. But I will be your mommy of the heart. And I..."

(he looks up, about to tell the child to lower the volume)

Billy.

HIS P.O.V.:
almost ferocious intensity on his face, doing his best to block out Ted's voice.

ON TED--He watches his son for a second, then carefully refolds the letter, puts it away.

TED:
(as he reaches across, turns down the sound on the T.V.)
It's okay...It's okay. We'll talk about it some other time.

CUT TO:
32    INT. KITCHEN, KRAMER APT. - LATER THAT DAY
CLOSE ON THELMA--reading Joanna's letter.

THELMA:
Oh, God...OhmyGod...
She finishes the letter, looks up at Ted.
THELMA:
What are you going to do?

TED:
I don't know, Thel...This whole thing has happened so...Pow, like that.

THELMA:
I mean, what are you going to do about Billy?

TED:
(stiff)
I'm gonna keep him, why?

THELMA:
Look, this is nothing personal, but I don't think you can do it.

TED:
Theelma, I've lost my wife, I'm not losing my child.

THELMA:
(backing off)
All right...Okay...But let's get something straight, right now. I mean, I'm sorry about what happened between you and Joanna, but it's not my problem, understand?

REVERSE ON TED--he nods.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM:

THELMA:
I'm not going to have you calling every fifteen minutes just because you can't find a hot water bottle, understand? Ted nods.

THELMA:
I've got enough trouble raising my own kid. I don't need another one. Got it?

TED:
Got it.

THELMA:
You're on your own, understand?

TED:
I understand.

THELMA:
You're sure?

TED:
I'm sure.
ON THELMA--a long pause, she looks at him with all the warmth of a top sergeant facing a raw recruit. Then:

THELMA:
All right. Who's Billy's pediatrician?
ON TED--He hasn't the foggiest idea.

THELMA:
(machine-gun delivery)
Ed Davies. 230 East 76th Street.
472-8227. Fifty bucks a house call, thirty for an office visit.

Write this down:
you twice. What's the nearest hospital?
ON TED--as he grabs a piece of paper and starts writing frantically.

TED:
Wait a minute! Wait a minute!

THELMA:
(not waiting) Lenox Hill. 77th Street between Park and Lex. The emergency number is 327-0800.

TED:
Slow down...Slow down...

CUT TO:
33  INT. TED'S BEDROOM - DAY
WIDE SHOT--Ted stands in the middle of the room, sorting out a huge pile of dirty clothes. Thelma sits on the edge of the bed, watching.

THELMA:
Colors in one pile, white things in another and shirts in a third.
In the BACKGROUND we SEE the bathroom door as it opens and Billy Kramer steps out, freshly bathed and wearing clean clothes.

THELMA:
(without looking around)
Brush the teeth. Hang up the towel and flush the toilet.
Billy immediately turns on his heels and heads back into the bathroom.

CUT TO:
33A  INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - DAY
CLOSE ON A SILVER CIGARETTE BOX--that is inscribed, "Ted and Joanna Kramer, Married April 4, 1970." HOLD FOR A BEAT then Ted's hand reaches into FRAME and picks it up. MED SHOT TED--as he takes the cigarette box and balances it on a stack of scrap books, photographs, ash trays, etc., etc., that he is carrying. He crosses to another table, picks up a framed photograph of Joanna and Billy and piles that on top of everything. We realize that Ted is going through the apartment from top to bottom and methodically cleaning out every trace of Joanna that he can find.

CUT TO:
33B  EXT. APARTMENT BUILDING - NIGHT
ESTABLISHING SHOT
CUT TO:

33C  INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--as Ted goes through the room, picking up
Billy's clothes which have been strewn every which way.
THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as he carries them into Billy's room.
33D  INT. BILLY'S ROOM - NIGHT
Billy is fast asleep, the only light coming from the night lamp on the dresser. Ted dumps the soiled clothing in a hamper, hangs up Billy's jacket, then he neatly folds the boy's sweater and crosses to the dresser.
CLOSER IN ON THE DRESSER--as Ted opens a drawer and starts to put the sweater away. Suddenly he spots something.

CUT TO:

HIS P.O.V.:
pile of clothing is one of the photographs of Joanna that Ted put away this afternoon. Billy has retrieved it and hidden it here, hoping that Ted wouldn't find it.
CLOSE ON TED--as he takes a long look at the photograph, then turns to his son.

HIS P.O.V.:
ON TED--He removes the photograph from the drawer, crosses to the bed and places it on the nightstand nearby so that Billy will be able to see the picture of Joanna when he wakes up in the morning. He sits for a moment longer on the side of the bed and reaches across and smooths down his son's rumpled hair.

FADE TO BLACK:

34  INT. TED'S OFFICE - LATE AFTERNOON
ON TED--clearly in a rush, loading his briefcase with work to do that evening. He starts for the door and THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as he walks along the outer office corridor, heading for the elevator. As he passes the door to O'Connor's office:

TED:
(calling out)
'Night, Jim.
O'CONNOR (O.S.)
Hey, Ted. C'mon in. I wanna talk to you.

Reluctantly Ted stops, turns around and walks back to the door to O'Connor's office.

CUT TO:

35    INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - LATE AFTERNOON
O'Connor sits back in his chair, his feet propped on the desk a drink in one hand.
O'CONNOR
(jovial)
What's the big rush. C'mon in, put your feet up, have a drink.
REVERSE ON TED--hanging in the doorway, clearly anxious to leave.

TED:
Can't do it tonight. Gotta pick up Billy. I'm late.
O'CONNOR
(paying no attention to that)
Listen, I heard a terrific joke today. There's this Polish skydiver--

TED:
(urgent)
Sorry, Jim I've got to go. I'll talk to you tomorrow.
And before O'Connor can say anything he is gone.
REVERSE ON O'CONNOR--Obviously displeased. He sits for a moment, drumming his fingers on the desk top, then reaches for the phone and starts to dial. A moment later:

O'CONNOR
Murray? Jim O'Connor, why don't you drop by and have a drink...

CUT TO:

36    EXT. OFFICE BUILDING - LATE AFTERNOON WIDE SHOT--as Ted emerges from the building, starts to hail a cab.

CUT TO:
37 EXT. APARTMENT HOUSE, EAST EIGHTIES -

LATE AFTERNOON:
WIDE SHOT--as the cab pulls to a stop. Ted leaps out and rushes inside.

CUT TO:
33 INT. HALLWAY, APARTMENT BLDG. - LATE AFTERNOON
The elevator doors open and Ted steps out. THE CAMERA PANS WITH HIM as he crosses to the doorway of an apartment, rings the bell.
CLOSER IN--as the door is opened by a pleasant-looking woman in her thirties. This is MRS. KLINE. She has the slightly haggard look of someone who has just survived a birthday party with eight five-year-olds. In fact, behind her we SEE an abundance of crepe paper and balloons.

TED:
(apologetic)
Mrs. Kline, I'm sorry I'm late, but--

MRS. KLINE
That's all right, but I'm afraid Billy was a little nervous...
(she glances O.S.)

THEIR P.O.V.:
lap sits alone on a bench in the foyer.
The moment he sees his father, he gets up and starts for the door.

BILLY:
(to Ted, accusingly)
You're late.

TED:
I'm sorry, pal, but I had a meeting and--

BILLY:
(to Mrs. Kline, anxious to get away) Goodbye.
MRS. KLINE
Goodbye, Bill. Thank you for coming.
(calling out to her son in the next room)
Mark. Say goodbye to Bill.
MARK (O.S.) (preoccupied) Bye.

BILLY:
Bye.
And he hustles his father out into the hallway. Once door is shut behind them:

BILLY:
(sullen)
I was waiting a long time.
By now they have crossed to the elevator. Ted rings the bell.

TED:
(this ain't exactly the greeting he's expected)
It wasn't so long, I'm only...
(checking his watch)
...twenty minutes late.
The elevator doors open.

BILLY:
All the other mothers got here a long time ago...
And the doors close, blocking them from view.

CUT TO:
39 INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--Ted and Billy sit at the dining table, a large pizza between them. Ted is working hard, trying to establish some kind of rapport with his son. Billy is silent, he picks at the slice of pizza in front of him.

TED:
(more of the camp counselor)
How was school today?

BILLY:
Okay...Same as usual...

TED:
Billy, don't eat with your fingers.

BILLY:
(morose)
Sorry.
There is a long beat of silence.

TED:
(like pulling teeth)
Well, I see the Yankees finally won a game.

BILLY:
Mom, I mean dad?

TED:
Yeah?

BILLY:
Can I be excused? I'm not hungry.
I think I'll go to bed.

TED:
Sure. Too much birthday cake, right?

BILLY:
(as he gets up from the table)
I guess...
WIDE SHOT--as Billy shuffles off toward his room. Ted sits for a beat picking at the food on his plate.
THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH BILLY--as he gets up from the table and walks into his room. HOLD IN THE DOORWAY as he takes off his shirt and pants and leaves them lying on the floor. The boy crosses to the closet, gets his pajamas and puts them on. REVERSE ON TED--standing in the doorway, watching.

TED:
Goodnight.
ON BILLY--He starts to crawl into bed.

BILLy:
(alooof)
'Night.
ON TED, THE CAMERA PANS WITH HIM--as he crosses to where Billy dropped his clothes on the floor, picks them up.

TED:
Listen, pal, I'm sorry, okay?
Silence.

TED:
I know how you feel.
Silence.
Ted crosses, sits on the edge of the bed.

TED:
Look, I remember one time when.
I was a couple of years younger than you are now and...I was staying with this cousin of mine and my parents were supposed to come and pick me up by three, but it got later and later and they didn't and they didn't show up and I remember I got really scared that something had happened to them and I remember when they finally came instead of being happy to see them I was very angry and...Billy, I promise I'll never do that to you again, okay?...
Silence.

TED:
Billy? Okay?
C.U. BILLY--His face is turned to the wall. HOLD FOR A BEAT as we SEE him nod.

41    INT. LIVING ROOM, TED KRAMER'S APT. - NIGHT

Note: is actually to be played so that each time we cut back to the woman who is being interviewed as housekeeper, it is a different woman: sometimes nervous and excited, sometimes large and lugubrious, with six shopping bags, sometimes looking like a headmistress at Dachau. They are uniformly (until the last) unappetizing. Throughout this, we SEE Ted becoming increasingly desperate.

WOMAN:
(looking around nervous)
It's very big...They didn't tell me it was this big.

TED:
(apologetically)
No...No, actually it's only two bedrooms.

SECOND WOMAN:
(sniffing)
Phew...This place is a real pig sty.

TED:
(defensively)
Look, my wife just walked out on me. Okay? It's been a tough week.

THIRD WOMAN:
Don't tell me your troubles, mister. I got enough of my own.
CLOSE-UP and PULL BACK to REVEAL that we are in Ted's office and it is the middle of the afternoon.

INT. TED KRAMER'S OFFICE - DAY

FOURTH WOMAN:
The first thing is, I don't do floors.
At that point the door behind her opens and O'Connor pokes his head in.

O'CONNOR
Ted.

FOURTH WOMAN:
(ignoring him)
Or windows. I come in at ten and I get Wednesdays off.

O'CONNOR
Ted.

TED:
(brisk)
I'll be with you in a minute, Jim.
(back to the woman)
You couldn't make that Saturday, could you?

CUT TO:

43 INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
ON THE FIFTH WOMAN (MRS. WILLEWSKA)--She is a slightly built attractive woman in her early sixties. There is a long pause as she looks around.

MRS. WILLEWSKA
What kind of boy is your son?

REACTION TED--This is the first person that ever asked about Billy.

TED:
(taken aback)
Well, he's...ah, he's a good kid.
He's shy and...I think he's probably very creative and...

MRS. WILLEWSKA
Could I see him?

TED:
Sure. He's right in here.
As they start toward the child's room.

CUT TO:
44    INT. BILLY'S ROOM - NIGHT
In the darkness we can SEE Billy, all scrunched up in the covers. HOLD FOR A BEAT as the door opens and the light from the hall falls across the sleeping boy.
ON THE DOOR--Ted and Mrs. Willewska stand silhouetted against the light.
MRS. WILLEWSKA
Oh,...He's very beautiful.
ON BILLY--as he stirs, in his sleep.
MRS. WILLEWSKA (O.S.)
Mr. Kramer, you are a very lucky man.
REACTION, TED--This is the first time since Joanna left that this has occurred to him.

TED:
Mrs. Willewska, could you start on Monday?

CUT TO:
45    INT. SUPERMARKET - DAY
ON BILLY AND TED, TRACKING JUST IN FRONT OF THEM--as they wheel a shopping cart along the aisle. Ted has a shopping list in his hand.
Ted stops, takes a box of detergent off of the shelf, starts to put it in the shopping cart, when:

BILLY:
(worried)
Mom, I mean dad...

TED:
(his mind elsewhere)
Uh huh...

BILLY:
That's not the right soap. We use the kind in the green and yellow box.

TED:
C'mon, there's not much difference--

BILLY:
(firmly)
We use the green and yellow.
Ted looks at his son for a moment, then carefully replaces the detergent that he had originally picked and reaches for the green and yellow kind. They continue on for several steps and Ted stops again, this time looking for a dishwashing liquid. He starts to reach for one, stops, looks around at Billy. Billy shakes his head. Ted points to another.

BILLY:
(shaking his head again)
The pink stuff.
Ted takes a bottle of the pink stuff, puts it in the shopping cart and consults his shopping list.

TED:
Okay, what color cereal do we get?

CUT TO:
46 EXT. PLAYGROUND, CENTRAL PARK - DAY
WIDE SHOT--It is that same afternoon and Billy (his clothes are much dirtier by now) is running back and forth with a group of other children.
MAN'S VOICE (O.S.)
Walk him over to Bethesda Fountain and buy him an ice.
ON TED--He sits on one of the playground benches, the work he took from the office stacked beside him on the bench. Sitting next to him is a personable-looking man of about Ted's age. He is nattily dressed in a suit complete with vest, tie and polished Gucci loafers. We will call him THE SATURDAY FATHER. young girl of about ten) will appear from time to time throughout the film. He is a divorced father, putting in his time, not giving a shit about the child. The Saturday Father insists on treating Ted as though they were members of the same secret fraternity. And he comes to represent Ted's nightmare of what might happen to him.

TED:
(looking in the direction of the voice)
What?

SATURDAY FATHER:
Walk him over to Bethesda Fountain, buy him an ice. It'll kill twenty minutes.

TED:
I've got a lot more than twenty minutes to kill.

SATURDAY FATHER:
Tough...
(checking his watch)
...I get off duty at five-thirty.
(bored, anxious to make conversation)
How long you been divorced?

TED:
(surprised)
Three months. How can you tell?

SATURDAY FATHER:
You've got that look. My lady and I split two years ago in August and I'm an old pro at this shit. First thing, stay away from the Children's Zoo. It's pure hell—if I never see another chicken, I'll be happy.
CALLING OUT TO HIS DAUGHTER O.S.:
I'm here, darling. Don't worry...
CLOSER ON TED--finding this distinctly unpleasant.
He glances around, looking for Billy.

HIS P.O.V.:
running around, but there is no sign of Billy.

TED:
(calling out)
Billy?

HIS P.O.V.:
nowhere in sight.
WIDER ON TED--as he grabs his stuff and starts toward the exit of the playground.

TED:
(louder)
Billy?

HIS P.O.V.:
WIDE ON TED--standing among a crowd of people just outside the entrance to the playground. He is looking around wildly.

TED:
Billy?!

HIS P.O.V.:
running as hard as he can away from Ted.
ON TED, TRACKING IN FRONT OF HIM--as he starts to chase after Billy.

HIS P.O.V.: is running with a purpose.
TED (V.O.)
Billy!
Billy pays no attention to him.
ON TED, TRACKING IN FRONT OF HIM--as he continues to chase his son.

HIS P.O.V.:
that ahead of Billy is a woman that, from behind, looks remarkably like Joanna.
CLOSER ON TED--as he realizes what is about to happen.
CLOSER ON BILLY--catching up to the woman.

BILLY:
Mommy!  Mommy!
A moment later he gets close enough to grab onto her skirt.  As the woman turns around:
C.U. WOMAN--quite clearly it is not Joanna.
CLOSE UP BILLY--His face becomes impassive again.  All the excitement vanishes.

BILLY:
Oh.  I thought you were my mommy.
C.U. TED--His face reveals all of the pain that Billy's can't.

CUT TO:
47    INT. CLASSROOM, NURSERY SCHOOL - DAY
CLOSE ON A HOMEMADE CURTAIN--as it opens and Billy Kramer, wearing an outsized moustache, a makeshift cape and a stovepipe hat made from construction paper.  He stands for a moment, looking around, finally he spots someone, grins and begins waving.

HIS P.O.V.:
mothers (Ted Kramer is the only man present) are gathered, sitting on tiny chairs and at work tables watching as their children put on a show.
ON BILLY--Suddenly he forgets his lines, looks around nervously.  A moment later a very pretty young teacher leans over, whispers in his ear.

TEACHER:
Ladies and gentlemen...

BILLY:
Ladies and gentlemen...

TEACHER:
Welcome to the greatest show on earth.
BILLY:
Welcome to the...
(he forgets again)
REVERSE ON TED--He leans forward mouthing the words as the teacher prompts Billy.

TEACHER: Greatest.

BILLY: Greatest...

TEACHER: Show.

BILLY:
Show...

TEACHER:
On earth.

BILLY:
On earth.
Ted breathes a sigh of relief, his son having gotten through it.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THE CHILDREN PUTTING ON THE SHOW AND TED KRAMER SITTING IN THE AUDIENCE WATCHING--A look of total pleasure on his face. From time to time when Billy does something particularly difficult, Ted nudges the woman next to him.

Note:
there guiding, helping, over and over and over we cannot help but notice how attractive she is. Toward the end of the show Ted's P.O.V. occasionally follows the teacher rather than the child.

DISOLVE TO:
WIDE SHOT--The show is over and the parents and children mill around eating popcorn, drinking lemonade from paper cups. Ted stands off to one side, talking to the teacher as Billy runs around.
CLOSER IN ON THEM:
TEACHER:
Mr. Kramer, I just wanted to tell you what a wonderful boy your son is.

TED:
(clearly attracted to her)
I don't know...I've been worried...
(glancing around, making sure Billy is out of earshot)
I mean, with what he's been through and everything. I--

TEACHER:
(solicitously)
No...No...Billy is doing just fine.

TED:
(giving himself a few points)
Well, you know it's not easy raising a kid on your own and I thought if we could get together and, uh, discuss--
At that moment one of the class mothers interrupts, reaches across Ted and takes hold of the teacher's hand.

WOMAN:
(effusive)
Barbara! Congratulations! When is the baby due?
TEACHER (BARBARA)
Oh, God. Not 'til August.
CLOSE ON TED--inadvertently glancing at the teacher's stomach, nothing shows.
ON THE TEACHER--as she turns back to Ted.

TEACHER:
Excuse me. You said you wanted to talk, Mr. Kramer.

TED:
(embarrassed)
Yes, but...ah, not now...
(checking his watch)
I've got an appointment...I forgot all about it...
As Ted begins beating a hasty retreat,

CUT TO:
48    EXT. STREET - DAY
ON TED, TRACKING IN FRONT OF HIM--as he walks down the street carrying a large and elaborate papier mache art thing that Billy made in school.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN TED AND HIS POV, as he manages to notice every single pretty girl that passes, thread his way through the crowd and still balance Billy's enormous work of art.

CUT TO:
49    INT. AGENCY - DAY
ON THE ELEVATOR DOORS--as they open, Ted squeezes off and AS THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM, he crosses the waiting room and enters the offices proper. He pauses at his secretary's desk and deposits Billy's papier mache thing. She jumps up from her desk, takes the papier mache thing and her notebook in hand, and follows Ted as he walks down the corridor towards O'Connor's office.

SECRETARY:
Mr. O'Connor called. There's a meeting with the Revlon people in the board room and you're fifteen minutes late.

TED:
(in a rush)
I know....I know.

SECRETARY:
Mr. Schmidt can't have the figures on the television buy until Monday.

TED:
No. Uh, uh. Tell him I asked for it Friday.  I want it Friday.
SECRETARY:
Mr. Lombardo from packaging wants to meet on Friday.

TED:
Fine.

By now they have reached the board room. He enters without knocking, his secretary still in tow.

SECRETARY:
And Mrs. Kelsey called to ask if Billy can come to Stephanie's birthday party on Tuesday.

CUT TO:
INT. BOARD ROOM - DAY
The room is filled with executives in three piece suits and O'Connor who is doing a lot of backing and filling.

TED:
(as he enters)
Yes. Remind me to pick up a "Crying Chrissie" doll at lunch on Tuesday.

ON O'CONNOR--Clearly he is very irritated at this.

O'CONNOR (sardonic)
If it's all right with you, Mother Kramer, can we get down to work now?

CUT TO:
INT. PHYLLIS BERNARD'S OFFICE - DAY
It is a real mess, legal files and law books scattered everywhere. In the midst of all this chaos sits PHYLLIS BERNARD, as we said before, she is about thirty, very pretty in spite of her glasses.

ON PHYLLIS--She looks up as Ted enters. It is clear from their attitude that they have known one another for a long time and are very relaxed together.

PHYLLIS:
Hello, Kramer.
ON TED--He drops into a chair and shoves a stack of papers across the desk to her.

TED:
Hiya, Phyllis. These are the Revlon contracts. I thought you ought to check them out.

PHYLLIS:
Sure.
She takes the papers and starts to rifle through them, stopping every so often and making a note in the margin. As she does, we notice that the second and third buttons of her blouse have come undone and that she is not wearing a bra.
CLOSER ON TED--as he realizes this.
ON PHYLLIS--She glances up to ask Ted a question about some point or other, notices the direction of his gaze and, unselfconsciously buttons up her blouse. She goes back to her papers as Ted continues to watch her.
ON PHYLLIS--not looking up from her papers.

PHYLLIS:
Yes.

TED: (baffled) Yes, what?

PHYLLIS:
(looks up, serious)
Yes, I'll have dinner with you.

CUT TO:
52    INT. TED KRAMER'S BEDROOM - LATE AT NIGHT
ON THE BED--Although the room is dimly lit, we can SEE quite clearly that Ted and Phyllis are in bed together. They have finished making love and Ted lies back, half asleep. Phyllis reaches across to the nightstand, puts on her glasses and checks her watch.

PHYLLIS:
Kramer, I've got to go. I've got an eight o'clock closing tomorrow down on Centre Street.

TED:
(half asleep)
Mmmnnph...I'll get you a cab...
But he makes no move to get up.
Phyllis gets to her feet and in the dim light we can SEE that, except for her glasses, she is naked.

PHYLLIS:
(as she crosses the hall on the way to the bathroom)
That's okay. It's just that I've got these clients that are--

CUT TO:
53    INT. BATHROOM - NIGHT
There is Billy Kramer, standing by the toilet, buttoning his pajamas. He looks up at Phyllis.

His P.O.V.: was born, a look of stunned amazement on her face.

PHYLLIS:
(softly to herself)
Oh, God.
Too startled to cover herself.
ON BILLY--He looks her up and down, then:

BILLY:
(very serious)
Do you like fried chicken?
ON PHYLLIS--suddenly remembering to cover herself.

PHYLLIS:
(hoping desperately it is the right answer)
Ah... .Yes.
SHOT--Phyllis and Billy.

BILLY:
So do I...
And he shuffles off to bed. Phyllis waits, frozen until he disappears into his room. Then, she turns and flees back into the bedroom.

CUT TO:
54    INT. BEDROOM - NIGHT
ON PHYLLIS--as she bursts into the room, closes the door behind her, leans against it.

PHYLLIS:
(eyes wide)
I just met your son.
ON TED--who has leapt out of bed and is scrambling into his pants.

TED:
Like that?!
Phyllis nods.

TED:
And?

PHYLLIS:
He wanted to know if I liked fried chicken.

TED:
Do you?
Phyllis nods rather frantically.

TED:
(grinning)
So what's your problem?

CUT TO:
55    INT. KITCHEN, KRAMER APT. - EVENING
ON TED AND THELMA--stand side by side. He is cutting, chopping, making some kind of stew. Thelma stands nearby watching, sipping a glass of white wine. FROM O.S. we can hear Billy and Kim running around, playing.

TED:
You ever think about getting married again?

THELMA:
No, not really...
(she thinks for a moment, then:

I guess it's different if you don't have children, but...I dunno, even if Charley and I don't live together, even if we're sleeping with other people, even if Charley was to marry again...He'd still be my husband.
That stuff about "Till death do you part?" That's really true.

TED: (nodding toward a cookbook that is propped open nearby)
How many onions does it say to use?

THELMA: (without bothering to look in the book)
Three. And add some basil.

TED:
(as he does)
D'you think you and Charley'll ever get back together again?

THELMA:
No. I don't think so.

TED:
C'mon, Thel. So Charley had a little fling. So what? All in all he was a pretty good husband.

THELMA:
Look, I know this isn't gonna make any sense, okay? I mean forget the logic part... But I keep thinking if Charley really loved me, he wouldn't have let me divorce him.

CUT TO:

56 EXT. CENTRAL PARK - DAY
WIDE SHOT--The Saturday Father and his daughter, clearly with nothing to say to one another, stand eating ices from a nearby vendor. THE CAMERA PANS AWAY FROM THEM across to Billy, Ted and Phyllis. She is dressed in a very nice suit, silk blouse, high heeled shoes and looks distinctly out of place in Central Park on a Saturday afternoon.

At the moment, Ted is trying to teach Billy how to bat.

TED:
Now look, you hold it like this... (he places Billy's hands on the bat just so) ...and you swing like this... (taking him through the motions)

ON PHYLLIS--watching. She can't believe what she's seeing. Finally, she can't stand it any longer.

PHYLLIS:
(impatient)
No, no, no, Kramer. That's not how you do it. Look.... She crosses to Billy, gently takes the bat from him and demonstrates.

PHYLLIS:
...you hold it like this... (showing him her grip)
Farther down the bat. And you swing like this... (to Ted) Throw me one.

ON TEO--as he gives Billy a look that says, we have to humor her. He throws a ball.

ON PHYLLIS--as she swings, connects and slams a ball in a long, looping fly that goes at least two hundred feet. ON TED--watching the ball disappear in the distance, he turns back to Phyllis, open-mouthed. CLOSE ON PHYLLIS--Embarrassed, she grins, shrugs and hands the bat back to Billy.

CUT TO:

57 INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--O'Connor, Murray and the Art Director are in O'Connor's office as the door opens and Ted enters, carrying a pile of papers, charts, graphs, etc., etc.

TED:
Okay, Jim. Here's the report on.
He stops in mid-sentence, looks around.

HIS P.O.V.:
the various Fire and Ice ads, none of which are what Ted and O'Connor had agreed upon.

TED:
(surprised)
What the hell is this?
O'CONNOR
(innocent)
Murray had some ideas about the Fire and Ice campaign and he had the art department make up a few roughs...
(weakly)
I think they're kind of interesting.

TED:
(bugged)
I don't. Jim, this isn't anything like what we talked about. It's not even close.

MURRAY:
(oily)
Ted, basically it's still your concept.
O'CONNOR

(chiming in)
Murray just added a few things, that's all.

TED:
Now hold it right there, I'm the one that went in and sold Revlon on this idea to start with, remember? You said I was going to be--

Sound-effect:
O'Connor picks it up.

ON TED: O'Connor
Yeah?
He listens for a moment, then hands the phone to Ted.

O'CONNOR
It's for you.
ON TED--as he takes the receiver.

TED:
(puzzled)
Yes?
Then, embarrassed, he turns his back and lowers his voice.

TED:
Look, Billy, I told you before, one hour of T.V. a day, that's the rule...No...
(clearly, Billy is giving him an argument)
I don't care what the other mothers do...Listen, I can't talk now, I'm in a meeting...
(firm)
Billy, I'll talk to you later, good-bye.

Note:
Murray & O'Connor, looks of bored condescension and smug superiority on their faces.
Ted hangs up the phone and turns back around.

MURRAY:
(smooth)
Ted, I appreciate what you're saying, but I really think you're just too close to it right now.
O'CONNOR
(quickly)
Murray's right.
(reassuring)
Look it's just some ideas, okay?
I mean nothing's locked in cement.
I promise you this is your show...
ON TED--Not very reassured.
O'CONNOR
Trust me on this one, Ted...

CUT TO:
58    INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
Ted is sitting at the dining room table, working.
Spread out all across the table are layouts, rate sheets, etc., etc.  Billy sits across from him drawing on a pad with felt-tipped pens.  HOLD FOR A BEAT, then:

BILLY:
(worried about something)
Mom, I mean dad...

TED: (busy)
In a minute...
A beat of silence then:

BILLY:
What do you do when an elephant sits on your fence?
Silence.

BILLY:
You get a new fence.

TED:
(he hasn't heard a word)
C'mon, Billy. I'm trying to work for God's sake...

Another beat of silence, then Billy reaches for his glass of Hawaiian Punch and accidentally tips it over, spilling purple liquid across all of Ted's papers. Instantly, Ted is on his feet, yelling.

TED:
Goddamnit, can't you watch what you're doing!

CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM:

BILLY:
(quiet)
I'm sorry.

TED:
Je-sus Christ! I catch all kind of shit at the office because I'm not pulling my weight because I'm busting my butt trying to be a decent goddamn father and--

BILLY:
I'm sorry.

TED:
(sardonic)
That's terrific. That's really terrific, but I notice I'm the one that's cleaning up this-- (noticing an important paper covered with grape juice)
Oh, crap, I'll have to do this one over.
BILLY:
(starting to help)
I'm sorry.
By now there is nothing the boy can do right.

TED:
Look, it's after your bedtime, okay? Just do me a favor and go to bed, okay?
Billy gets to his feet, collects his stuff and walks into his bedroom. HOLD ON TED who sits for a moment, then gets wearily to his feet and as THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM crosses to the door of Billy's room. He stops in the doorway, looks O.S.

HIS P.O.V.: having a hard time.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM

TED:
Look, I'm sorry I yelled, okay?

BILLY:
(quiet)
That's okay.

TED:
It's just...I've been catching a lot of flack at the office...

BILLY:
That's okay...

60  INT. OFFICE - DAY
ON THE DOOR TO O'CONNOR'S OFFICE--as it opens and Phyllis comes out. In the B.G. in O'Connor's office we SEE O'Connor and Murray, talking, laughing. THE CAMERA TRACKS ALONGSIDE PHYLLIS as she walks to Ted Kramer's office and opens the door without knocking.

PHYLLIS:
How about lunch, Kramer. I'm buying.

CUT TO:
INT. RESTAURANT, MIDTOWN - DAY
ON TED AND PHYLLIS--as they sit across from one another.
A waiter stands over them, setting drinks in front of them.

WAITER:
Perrier and lime...
(placing a drink in front of Phyllis)
...and scotch with soda.
(putting Ted's drink in front of him)
The waiter bustles away.

TED:
Okay, Phyllis, what's up?

PHYLLIS:
Kramer...
She breaks off, uncertain whether or not to go on.
Then, making up her mind, she reaches across, takes Ted's scotch and soda and drinks half of it down in one gulp.

PHYLLIS:
(in a rush)
O'Connor's out to get you. He's going to take the Fire and Ice account away from you.

TED: (stunned)
What?!!
Phyllis nods.

TED:
(angry)
I don't believe it! That's crazy! Why would Jim do something like that?
Phyllis polishes off the rest of Ted's drink.

PHYLLIS:
(angry herself)
You want to know why? I'll tell you why...
(signaling to the waiter)
Another scotch and soda for the gentleman.
(back to Ted)
I'll tell you exactly why. Because you're not his buddy anymore. Because he can't count on you to sit around the office every night until eight or nine and shoot the shit with him.

TED:
I can't. I've got Billy to take care of.

PHYLLIS:
(exasperated)
You dope. O'Connor doesn't give a damn about Billy. All he wants is somebody that'll hang around with him every night so he won't have to go home.

TED:
(stiff)
I don't believe you.
The waiter sets Ted's drink on the table in front of him. He starts to reach for it, but Phyllis is quicker.

PHYLLIS:
(taking a stiff drink)
All right. Okay. But tell me something, Kramer. Who do you think is palling around with O'Connor these days?
Ted shrugs.

TED:
How should I know?
PHYLLIS:
Murray.
REACTION, TED--stunned, but trying to be nonchalant.

TED:
So...what's so terrible about that?

PHYLLIS:
(would like to take him by the shoulders and shake him until his teeth rattle)
Oh, for God's sake, Kramer. You have got to be the world's most naive human being.
(leaning forward)
Murray has gone in and changed every single ad you've done on the entire Fire and Ice campaign. Every layout...Every idea...Every single thing, right down the line.

TED:
No. No, I don't believe it. Jim O'Connor would never let anything like that happen. He gave me my shot in this business. If it wasn't for Jim O'Connor I'd be--I don't know where I'd be. He's a wonderful man...

PHYLLIS:
(apologetic for having upset Ted) Kramer, I'm sorry. All I was trying to do was--

TED:
(cutting her off)
I don't want to hear another word against him. Not another word. He's a wonderful man...a wonderful man...
INSERT:
done, that Ted had seen in O'Connor's office.
ON TED, TRACKING WITH HIM as he steams out of his door and marches along the corridor to O'Connor's office.

SECRETARY:
(as Ted brushes past her) I'm sorry, Mr. O'Connor is in conference.
But it is too late. Ted barrels into O'Connor's office without bothering to knock.

CUT TO:
63  INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - DAY
O'Connor is alone in the office. He looks up startled as Ted comes barging in.

TED:
(furious)
All right, Jim. You said I was running this show, right? You said no decisions without my approval, right?
(brandishing the ad)
Well what the hell is this?
What's going on, Jim?
O'CONNOR
(embarrassed)
Well, ah...I thought it over and I decided we're doing it Murray's way.

TED:
Jim, this is garbage. This isn't anything like what we talked to Revlon about. None of it.
You can't-- O'CONNOR
(tough)
That's my decision, Ted and that's
CUT TO:
64 INT. DINING AREA, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
ON BILLY--who sits looking down at the plate of food in front of him as though it was a coiled rattlesnake about to strike.

BILLY:
What is it?
ON TED--preoccupied, jumpy. He is eating, but he doesn't taste a thing.

TED:
Salisbury steak.

BILLY:
I hate it.

TED:
You don't hate it. We had Salisbury steak last week and you liked it fine.

BILLY:
(stubborn)
No I didn't. I hate the brown stuff. It's gross.

TED:
(strained patience)
All it is is onions and gravy.

BILLY:
I'm allergic to onions.

TED:
You are not allergic of onions.
You've had them lots of times.

BILLY:
(sullen)
I want a pizza.
TED:
(trying not to lose patience)
No. This is fine. Just take a bite, you'll like it fine. Reluctantly, Billy takes a tiny bite. He barely puts it in his mouth before he spits it out with a great show of being physically ill.

BILLY:
I think I'm going to throw up.

TED:
(getting pissed off)
Oh, for God's sake...Here. He reaches across and scrapes most of the sauce off of the meat.

TED:
There, okay? Now that's just plain old hamburger.

BILLY:
Some of the brown stuff is still there.

TED:
(through clenched teeth)
Then eat around it.

BILLY:
No.

TED:
(anger building)
Now listen to me, young man. Do you know what I had to go through to put this goddamn food on the goddamn table?

BILLY:
(obstinate) I don't care. I hate it. I want pizza.

TED:
(blowing up)
Not on your life. That's it. I've had it with crap around this house. From now on, no more pizza! Get it? Starting right now you can eat real food like a normal human being!

BILLY:
No!
By now both of them are out of control.

TED:
You want to know something?!
You are a spoiled selfish little brat! Now eat-- Billy takes his plate and looking his father straight in the eye deliberately overturns it, spilling food everywhere.
ON TED--He is out of his chair like a shot, crosses to Billy and jerks him to his feet.

TED:
(yelling)
Goddamnit! Go to your room! He half-carries, half-drags the child kicking and screaming into his room. THE CAMERA TRACKS ALONGSIDE THEM.

BILLY:
(at the top of his voice)
Owwww ...You're hurting me...
You're hurting me...I hate you ...I hate you...

TED:
(seething)
You're no bargain either, pal.

BILLY:
I want my mommy...I want my mommy...

65 By now they have reached Billy's room. Ted dumps him on the bed unceremoniously and starts out of the room.

BILLY:
(sobbing)
I want my...mm...ommy...I want mmmy...mommy...

TED:
(at the door)
Tough shit. You're stuck with me.
And he slams the door behind him.

CUT TO:
66 WIDE SHOT—the dining area. Ted sits down and tries to resume his meal alone.

BILLY (O.S.)
(sobbing, fighting to catch his breath)
I want my...mmmo...mmmy. I want mmmy mmo...mmmy...

CLOSER IN ON TED—as he lifts his glass to take a drink and we can SEE that he is shaking like a leaf.

CUT TO:
67 INT. KITCHEN - NIGHT

ON TED—as he finishes doing the last of the dishes, dries his hands and looks around to make sure that everything has been put away. He flips off the light and, as THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM, he walks from room to room, turning off the lights, until he reaches the door to Billy's room which is still closed. Ted hesitates for a moment, then eases open the door and steps inside.

CUT TO:
68 INT. BILLY'S ROOM - NIGHT

TED'S P.O.V.:
tangled up in the covers.
ON TED--as he crosses to the sleeping child and starts to straighten the covers.

BILLY:
(tentatively) Daddy?

TED:
(all anger gone)
Yeah?

BILLY:
I'm sorry...

TED:
(kisses him)
That's okay, pal. Go back to sleep. It's very late.
He starts to get up, when:

BILLY:
Daddy?

TED:
Uh huh?

BILLY:
(very quiet)
Are you...gonna go...away?
ON TED--stunned at the question.

TED:
Of course I'm not going away.
I love you very much. I'll be right here.
There is a beat of silence, then:

BILLY:
(it comes pouring out)
That's why mommy left...isn't it? 'Cause I was bad...
The boy begins to weep.
TED:

(he puts his arm around Billy and holds him close)
Oh, Christ...Oh, Christ...

(he thinks for a moment, then:

No, pal. Your mom loves you very much. The reason she left didn't have anything to do with you.

(pause, this is very painful)
Look, I don't know if this will make any sense to you, okay?
But I'll try and explain. You see the reason your mom left was because...Well, I guess it was because I kept trying to make her into a certain kind of person...Make her be the way I thought a wife was supposed to be. Only she wasn't like that. She was...

(smiles to himself)
Well, she wasn't like that. And now, when I think about it, I can see she tried very hard to be like I wanted--very hard. And when she couldn't, then she tried to tell me about it. Only I wouldn't listen. I guess I thought that if I was happy, that meant she was happy too. Only she wasn't. The truth is, the only reason she didn't leave a lot sooner was because she loves you so much. Joanna stayed until she couldn't stand me any longer and then she left...But it wasn't you, pal. It wasn't you.

There is a long beat of silence as Billy thinks about this. Clearly an enormous burden has been lifted from his shoulders. Finally:

BILLY:
Is mom ever coming back?

TED:
You mean for good?
Billy nods.

TED:
I don't think so.

BILLY: (thoughtfully) Oh...
Ted gets to his feet, starts for the door.

TED:
Now go to sleep. It's very late.

BILLY:
Good night.

TED:
Sleep tight.

BILLY:
Don't let the bedbugs bite.

TED:
See you in the morning light.

BILLY:
Dad?
Ted pauses in the doorway, smiles.

TED:
Yes?

BILLY:
I love you...

CUT TO:
69  EXT. CENTRAL PARK - DAY
A SERIES OF TRACKING SHOTS--as Ted runs along beside Billy, who is learning to ride a bike. Then, in the last shot, Ted lets go of the bike and runs along just behind. Slowly as Billy gains confidence he speeds up, leaving Ted farther and farther behind. Finally, as Billy glances over his shoulders.

CUT TO:

TED'S P.O.V.:
away, turns and waves.
ON TED--Waving back, a grin of enormous pride on his face. He glances around, embarrassed to make sure no one is watching and wipes tears from his eyes.

CUT TO:
70 EXT. STREET - DAY
ON A BUS--as it pulls to a stop and a mob of mothers and children get off. Among them we spot Billy and Ted Kramer. THE CAMERA PANS WITH THEM as they cross the street and enter the school building. THE CAMERA CONTINUES IT'S PAN across the street, to a Coffee Shop with large plate glass windows facing the school. There, standing in the window, watching, is Joanna Kramer. HOLD As THE CAMERA SLOWLY ZOOMS IN ON HER and we SEE a look of overwhelming pain on her face.

CUT TO:
71 EXT. PLAYGROUND, CENTRAL PARK - AFTERNOON
ON TED AND THELMA--sitting on a bench, the area around them is stacked high with toys that the kids have brought with them to the park.
O.S. we can HEAR Billy and Kim racing around, playing.

TED:
(a little too casual)
Thel, you ever hear from Joanna?

THELMA:
(also with deliberate nonchalance)
Not for a couple of months.
The last time I heard from her she was living in San Francisco.
TED:
(surprised) California?

THELMA:
(watching him)
Uh, huh...She said she had a good job, was playing a lot of tennis. She wanted to know all about Billy. There is a beat of silence, then:

TED:
(the real question)
She ever ask about me?

THELMA:
(lying) Uh, huh...Yeah...

TED:
What d'you tell her?

THELMA:
I told her you're doing a pretty good job.
BILLY (O.S.)
Daddy! Daddy!
Ted glances around:

HIS P.O.V.:
Jim. Billy has a toy airplane in his hand.

BILLY:
Daddy, look! Presenting Billy Kramer's Fantastic Superjet! And he begins to race around the area, making jet noises and holding the airplane in his hand. REVERSE ON TED--watching him, smiling. ON BILLY--weaving in and around the benches. He turns and starts back towards Ted. As he does:

QUICK CUT:
ON BILLY--as he starts to fall, still holding onto the airplane.
QUICK CUT, TED--watching, horrified.
ON BILLY--as he hits the concrete.
ON TED--He leaps to his feet, starts toward the boy.
ON BILLY--as he looks up.
JUMP CUT IN, TO EXTREME CLOSE UP--There is a terrible-looking gash running from his cheek into his hairline. Kim screams at the sight of the blood.

BILLY:
(terrified) Daddy!

CUT TO:
72 EXT. ENTRANCE TO CENTRAL PARK - AFTERNOON
ON THE ENTRANCE--as Ted, carrying Billy, wrapped in his coat, comes barreling out of the park, nearly knocking over several people with shopping bags, and begins running like hell WITH THE CAMERA TRACKING JUST IN FRONT OF HIM. In the B.G. we SEE Thelma and Kim chasing after him. THE LENGTH OF THE TRACKING SHOT SHOULD BE MUCH LONGER THAN WE EXPECT. IT SHOULD, IN FACT, COVER THE THREE CITY BLOCKS BETWEEN THE KRAMER APARTMENT AND THE HOSPITAL, ACROSS STREETS WITHOUT STOPPING FOR THE LIGHT, ALONG CROWDED SIDEWALKS WITHOUT STOPPING, ENDING FINALLY ON THE EMERGENCY ENTRANCE TO THE HOSPITAL. IT MUST BE GENUINELY SUPERHUMAN, GENUINELY HEROIC.

CUT TO:
73 INT. EXAMINATION ROOM, EMERGENCY SECTION, HOSPITAL - DAY
ON TED KRAMER--He is covered with Billy's blood, it is on his face, his shirt, his trousers. At the moment 'he stands helpless, watching as, Off-Screen, a surgeon examines Billy's wound.
SURGEON (O.S.)
(calm, reassuring)
That's good, Billy...That's a brave boy...Now then, how's that? Now we've cleaned it out...
WIDER SHOT--Billy lies on the examining table with the doctor bending over him.
SURGEON:
There. That wasn't so bad, was it?
Billy doesn't say anything.

SURGEON:
Now then, you just wait here, Billy. I want to talk to your dad for a minute.
The doctor motions for Thelma to wait with Billy and he crosses to Ted who stands in the doorway.
CLOSER IN ON THEN

SURGEON:
(low voice, again calm and reassuring)
Your boy is very lucky, Mr.
Kramer. One inch over and it would have caught the eye.

REACTION TED:

SURGEON:
But I'm going to have to take some stitches.

TED:
(flat)
How many?

SURGEON:
Ten.
Ted closes his eyes, there is a sharp intake of breath.

SURGEON:
Because of the position of the wound and your son's age, I don't think there will be much of a scar. Otherwise I'd call in a plastic surgeon.
Ted nods.

SURGEON:
Now, I'd advise you to wait outside. It'll be eas--

TED:
(like a shot)
No.

SURGEON: (reasonable)
Mr. Kramer, there's--

TED:
(softly, but with real vehemence)
Fuck you. He's my son. I'm staying with him.

CUT TO:
CLOSE ON TED--He holds his son tightly while the doctor stitches up the boy's wound. From THIS CAMERA ANGLE we can SEE Ted's face, but only the back of Billy's head. Although we do not see the stitches being made, we do SEE the doctor's hand, with the needle and surgical thread as it moves into and out of view with a slow, steady rhythm. Billy's hand clutches Ted's so tightly that the knuckles are white.

BILLY:
(softly, as each stitch is taken) Ohhh...Ohhhh...Ohhhhh...

TED:
(whispering to his child)
It's okay, son...I'm here...
Just a little more to go...
Don't worry, son...I'm here...

FADE TO BLACK:
74    EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--It is late, only a few lights are still on.

CUT TO:
75    INT. BILLY'S ROOM - NIGHT
ON BILLY--He lies in bed, fast asleep, his head swathed in bandages. THE CAMERA PANS AWAY FROM HIM across to Ted, who sits in a nearby rocking chair, watching his son. HOLD FOR A BEAT, then Ted gets to his feet, walks quietly to the door and steps out into the hall, closing the door behind him.

CUT TO:
76 INT. KITCHEN - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--Thelma having washed and dried the dishes is now wiping off the top of the counter top, more to keep busy than anything else. She looks around as Ted enters.

THELMA:
How is he?
REVERSE ON TED--standing in the doorway. He hasn't changed his clothes and he is still covered with blood.

TED:
(nods)
He's okay...Thel, can I ask you a favor?

THELMA:
Sure.

TED:
I don't mean a little favor. mean a big F favor. Thelma nods. She watches Ted closely. He doesn't look at her.

TED:
Thelma, if I die--

THELMA:
(aghast) What?

TED: (quickly)
I didn't say I'm going to die, but if I should--
THELMA:
(deeply upset)
Don't say that! I don't want to hear you say that!

TED: (firmly) Thel, listen to me. If, on the million to one shot that I should-- (correcting himself)
That anything should happen to me. Would you take care of Billy?

THELMA:
(amazed)
Me?! You want me to take care of Billy?!

TED:
I thought about it a lot and you're the only person I know that I trust with him. I mean, if anything happened to me, he'd be okay with you. You're a good mother.
Silence. Thelma looks away from him.

TED:
(hastily)
I know it's not an easy thing to answer.
Silence. She still cannot look at him.

TED:
Look, if it's too much responsibility-- Thelma nods, unable to speak.

TED:
You're sure?
She nods again.
TED:
Thank you, Thel. Thank you very much.

CUT TO:
77 INT. BILLY'S ROOM - EARLY MORNING
MED. SHOT ON BILLY--as he lies in bed asleep. Some time has passed and Billy's bandage is much smaller. HOLD ON HIM as we HEAR

O.S. Sound:
forty-five garbage truck that serves as Billy's alarm clock.

HOLD ON BILLY as he wakes up, struggles to his feet. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as, eyes closed, he stumbles into the bathroom, pees, and still not remembering to flush the toilet walks into the bedroom and wakes his father. As the child turns and walks toward the kitchen, THE CAMERA HOLDS ON TED. He heaves himself to his feet and, eyes closed, in much the same manner as his son, stumbles into the bathroom. He automatically flushes the toilet without bothering to look, walks into the living room, opens the front door and picks up the paper. As he starts into the kitchen, he meets Billy coming the other way carrying two plates, a doughnut on each.

THE CAMERA NOW TRACKS WITH BILLY as he walks into the living room, carefully sets the plates on the dining table, crosses to the television set, and turns it on. He returns to the table, and sits down as Ted appears carrying two glasses of orange juice and vitamins. He takes a seat in the chair opposite Billy and opens his paper and starts to read.

HOLD ON THEM as they sit without talking, eating their breakfast--the only sound, a children's cartoon program coming from the T.V. From time to time Ted glances up from his paper to look across at the cartoon.

HOLD ON THEM as we SEE that they have become roommates in the best sense of the word.

78 EXT. TED'S OFFICE BLDG. MIDTOWN - DAY
WIDE SHOT--It is a gray, cloudy day in mid-November. Snow is falling.

Sound-effect:
TED'S VOICE
Hello?
JOANNA'S VOICE
Ted?
TED'S VOICE
Joanna?

CUT TO:
79  INT. RESTAURANT, ISLE OF CAPRI - NIGHT
ON THE DOOR--as Ted enters, looks around. The Maitre d'hôtel approaches. From his attitude, it is clear that Ted and Joanna were regular customers.
MAITRE D'HOTEL
Good evening, Mr. Kramer. We haven't seen you for a long time.
Mrs. Kramer, she waits for you in the back.

TED:
Thank you, John.
THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH TED as he walks toward the back room of the restaurant. Several waiters approach and say hello, the piano player looks up and smiles. As he reaches the door to the back room.

CUT TO:
80  INT. BACK ROOM
TED'S P.O.V., JOANNA: She sits against the wall, a glass of white wine in front of her. She is dressed simply and no longer has a tan. Nevertheless, Joanna is still stunningly beautiful. HOLD ON HER FOR A BEAT as she looks up, smiles.
ON TED--He stands watching her, his knees weak. It is impossible not to fall in love with her all over again.
TWO SHOT--as he crosses to her table, sits down.

JOANNA:
Hello, Ted. You look well.

TED:
So do you.
The waiter appears, carrying a scotch and soda. He sets it down on the table in front of Ted.
WAITER:
The usual, Mr. Kramer.

TED:
(not taking his eyes off Joanna) Thanks, Gino.
The waiter nods and promptly disappears.

JOANNA:
How's the new job?

TED:
Fine.
There is a self-conscious pause. From the bar, the piano player begins playing a new song. From Ted and Joanna's reaction, it is clearly a song that has meant a great deal to them in the past. They listen for a moment, then:

TED:
Look at us, Joanna. Just like any old married couple having dinner. Who would believe it.

JOANNA:
Yes...How's Billy?
ON TED--The question he has been dreading.

TED:
He's great...except...
(not looking at her)
...Except he had...he fell and he cut his face. He...He has a scar, Joanna, from about here to here.
(indicating where and how big)
There is a beat of silence. A moment of shared feeling.

TED:
(he has to say it to someone)
I can't help but feel somehow... it's my fault. I keep thinking
I could've done something-- stopped it...

JOANNA:
You can't tell it from a distance,
Ted.
For the first time he looks up at her.

TED:
What?
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM

JOANNA:
I've seen him.

TED:
You have?

JOANNA:
A few times. Sometimes I sit in that coffee shop across the street and watch when you take him to school.
ON TED--speechless.

JOANNA:
He looks like a terrific kid.

TED:
He is...
(he still can't get over it)
You sat in that coffee shop across from school--

JOANNA:
(completing the sentence)
Watching my son...Ted, I've been living in New York for the past two months.
TED: (amazed)
You've been living here, in the city?

JOANNA:
(a deep breath)
Ted...The reason I wanted to see you...I want Billy back.

TED:
You want what?!

JOANNA:
(firm)
I want my son. I'm through sitting in coffee shops looking at him from across the street. I want my son.

TED:
Are you out of your mind?! You're the one that walked out on him, remember?

JOANNA:
(trying to explain)
Ted, listen to me...You and I, we had a really crappy marriage-- (hastily)
Look, don't get so defensive, okay? It was probably as much my fault as it was yours... Anyway when I left I was really screwed up--

TED:
Joanna, I don't give a--

JOANNA:
(she will be heard)
Ted, all my life I'd either been somebody's daughter or somebody's wife, or somebody else's mother.
Then all of a sudden, I was a thirty-two-year-old, highly neurotic woman who had just walked out on her husband and child. I went to California because that was about as far away as I could get. Only... I guess it wasn't far enough. So I started going to a shrink. (leaning forward, very sincere) Ted, I've had time to think. I've been through some changes. I've learned a lot about myself.

TED:
(like a shot)
Such as?
Silence.

TED:
(boring in)
Come on, Joanna, what did you learn? I'd really like to know. Silence.

TED:
(relentless)
One thing, okay? Just tell me one goddam thing you've learned. There is a beat of silence, then:

JOANNA:
(quiet, determined)
I've learned that I want my son.
ON TED--He reacts as though he has been slapped.

TED:
Joanna, go be a mother. Get married, have kids. Don't get married, have kids. Do whatever you want. I don't give a damn. Just leave me out of it--and leave my baby out of it.
JOANNA:
Ted, if you can't discuss this rationally--

TED:
(getting to his feet)
Joanna, go fuck yourself!
And with that he turns on his heels and stalks out of the restaurant.

CUT TO:
81    INT. LAWYER'S OFFICE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--A large, very plush office: lots of antiques, beautiful nineteenth century paintings on the wall along with autographed photographs of at least three ex-Presidents of the United States. Sitting behind a large and imposing desk is JOHN SHAUNESSY, a handsome, formidable man in his early sixties. He is well-dressed, a cornflower in his buttonhole, that sort of thing. At the moment, Shaunessy leans back in his chair as Ted finishes his story.

TED:
(leaning forward, intense)
Look, she walked out on her own child, right? That's desertion, right? Mr. Shaunessy, I'm telling you it's an open and shut case.

SHAUNESSY:
First, there's no such thing as an open and shut case. Especially where custody is involved. Got it?
Ted nods.

SHAUNESSY:
Second, the burden is on us to prove your ex-wife is an unfit mother. That means I'm going to have to play rough and, if I play rough, you can bet they will too. Can you take that, Mr. Kramer?

Ted nods.

SHAUNESSY:
Third, it'll cost you five thousand dollars.

REACTION TED—That's an astronomical amount of money to him.

SHAUNESSY:
That's if we win. If we lose, you could end up having to pay your wife's court costs as well.

TED:
(determined)

Fine.

SHAUNESSY:
Good. You've hired yourself a hell of a lawyer, Mr. Kramer.

(down to business)

How old is the child?

TED:
Six.

ON SHAUNESSY—He shakes his head.

SHAUNESSY:
That's tough. In most cases involving a child that young, the court tends to side with the mother.

ON TED—agitated. This is not what he wanted to hear.

TED:
But she signed over custody.

Here...

He digs in his pockets, pulls out a piece of paper and thrusts it at the lawyer.

SHAUNESSY:
I'm not saying we don't have a shot, but it won't be easy...

(thinks for a moment)

Mr. Kramer, do me a favor. There is something I find very helpful in matters like this. I sit down and make a list of all the pros and cons on an issue. I actually write them down and look at them. I want you to do that, okay? Then, after that, if you're really sure you want to retain custody of your child--then we'll go in there and whip their asses.

CUT TO:

82    INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - LATE AT NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--Ted sits at the dining table, the supper dishes have been pushed aside. He has a legal pad in front of him and is writing. THE CAMERA DOLLIES IN CLOSER.

INSERT, TED'S P.O.V.: The legal pad. On one side Ted has written "Pro" and on the other, "Con." Underneath "Con" Ted has written a long list of the drawbacks involved in keeping Billy: Sex Life, Money, Possibility of Remarriage, Sleep, Emotional Dependence. The "Pro" side of the list is empty.
ON TED--He sits for a moment, staring at the list, then he crumples the paper, gets to his feet.

CUT TO:

83    INT. BILLY'S ROOM - NIGHT
ON THE DOOR--as Ted enters. He crosses to Billy's bed where the child is fast asleep, sits down on the edge, and starts to rub the child's back.

TED:
I love you Billy Kramer.

BILLY:
(half-asleep)
I love you too daddy.
Ted kisses the child, gets to his feet and starts toward the door.

TED:
Sleep tight. Don't let the bedbugs bite...

BILLY:
(almost asleep again)
See you in the morning light...

CUT TO:
84 - OMIT
87
88  INT. O'CONNOR'S OFFICE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--O'Connor stands with his back to Ted, looking out the window. From the beginning this is clearly an awkward and unpleasant moment.

O'CONNOR
(scared to do what he is about to do)
Look, ah...Ted. I just got word from the guys at Revlon and...ah they did some marketing tests on our campaign and the results were...

CLOSE ON TED:
on him that he is being fired.

O'CONNOR
(stiff)
Disappointing. It only pulled a fourteen share and they were hoping for a twenty-five minimum, and...ah...they're not very happy and...Well, the guys have decided they want to...ah, re-think the entire concept and...Look, I don't like having to do this, okay?... But...I mean, what I mean is...ah, I'm going to have to...ah, let you go--

TED:
(not really sure he
Are you firing me, Jim?
ON O'CONNOR--He still has his back to Ted.
O'CONNOR
C'mon, Ted, don't get emotional.
Okay?

(whining)
Look, this isn't exactly an easy thing for me to do, y'know? I swear Murray and I did everything we could, but those sons of bitches were out for blood. I mean it was all I could do to keep the account inside the shop... Look, I promise, if I hear of anything I'll let you know first thing. Ted, I want-- O'Connor looks around.

O'CONNOR
Ted?...

HIS POV:
Ted is gone.
O'CONNOR'S VOICE
Ted?...

CUT TO:
88A   INT. TED'S OFFICE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--as Ted grabs a picture of Billy from his desk, takes his jacket and coat and stalks out the door.

CUT TO:
88B   EXT. STREET - DAY
TRACKING ALONGSIDE TED--as he walks along the street in a state of total shock. Behind him, in the windows of expensive stores we note Christmas decorations.

CUT TO:
88C   INT. INTERVIEW ROOM, EMPLOYMENT AGENCY - DAY
WIDE SHOT--Ted sits across from the interviewer, a polished young man in his middle twenties, very efficient, he sounds a bit like a tape recording.

INTERVIEWER:
(glancing at a form
Ted has filled out
Ummm, hmmm... umm, hmmm...
(the good news)
Well, this looks very good.. Of course (the bad news)
... you understand this is the worst time of the year to look for a job.

TED:
(panic)
What?! What do you mean, I don't understand.

INTERVIEWER:
(patronizing)
Mr. Kramer, nobody even thinks about leaving their job until after they get their Christmas bonus.

TED:
Look, you don't understand. I need a job. I've got a kid and--

INTERVIEWER:
(smooth)
I understand and I'm absolutely sure something wonderful will turn up....
(ending any further discussion)
...after the first of the year.

CUT TO:
88D EXT. STREET - DAY
ON A TELEPHONE BOOTH--Ted stands inside, talking on the phone. AS THE CAMERA DOLLIES IN CLOSER, he hangs up the receiver and takes the employment section of the New York Times which is filled with listings he has circled and crosses off one. He goes on to the next, takes a dime from the stack on the shelf in front of him and starts to dial.
CUT TO:
88E  EXT. TED KRAMER'S APT. HOUSE - EVENING ESTABLISHING SHOT

CUT TO:
88F  INT. KITCHEN - NIGHT
ON TED--who stands at the sink doing the last of the dishes. A dishtowel is tucked into his belt, serving as an apron. HOLD ON HIM as we HEAR:

Sound-effect:
Ted wipes his hands, picks up the phone.

TED:
Uh, huh?
SECRETARY'S VOICE
(from the phone)
Mr. Kramer? Please hold for Mr.
Shaunessy...
Then, a moment later:
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
Ted? They've set the court date.
I just heard today...It's...
(checking his notes)
January sixth.

TED:
(despair)
Oh, Christ... John, there's something I ought to tell you. My... ah, situation has...changed. I lost my job.
There is a long pause, too long.

TED:
John?
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
(thoughtfully)
Ted, I won't lie to you, we don't have a hope in hell of winning a custody hearing if you're out of work.
Ted doubles over the phone like he has been hit in the stomach.

TED:
(softly, but with real feeling)
Good Christ, Joanna, just get the hell out of my life.
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
Ted? Are you there?

TED:
Yeah.
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
Any prospects?

TED:
(trrying to make himself believe it)
Don't worry. I plan to have something within twenty-four hours, John.
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
(amazed)
How the hell are you going to do that?

TED:
(grim)
I don't know.
89 INT. INTERVIEW ROOM, EMPLOYMENT AGENCY - DAY
WIDE SHOT--The same young man sits across the desk from Ted.

INTERVIEWER:
(smirk)
Mis-ter Kramer, as I mentioned yesterday, this is a very bad time of year to look for work.
Now I'm sure we'll have something for you by mid-February, March at the latest.
CLOSE ON TED--leaning forward, impatient.

TED:
I need a job, now.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM--The interviewer gives Ted a weary look. Then he starts to flip through the card file.

INTERVIEWER:
(going through the motions)
No...No...No...
Finally he pauses at one card, pulls it out.

INTERVIEWER:
(doubtfully)
There might be something at J. Walter Thompson. But...
(shaking his head)
...I don't think they're really serious. The position's been open for two months and...
(shrugs)
They may just be on a fishing expedition.
(cheerful)
I'm sure you'll be much happier if you wait until after the first--

TED:
(checking his watch)
Call up the people at J. Walter Thompson. Set up an appointment at four.

INTERVIEWER:
(politeness strained almost to the breaking point)
Mis-ter Kramer, it's...
(checking his watch)
...almost four now. It's the Friday before Christmas. Nobody is going to want to--
TED: (leaning forward, tough as nails)
Either you call and set up the appointment, or I'll call. And if I call, you lose the commission.

INTERVIEWER:
(arch)
My, we are a hot shot aren't we?
Ted is already on his feet and halfway out the door.

TED:
You bet your ass.

CUT TO:
90 INT. OFFICE ADVERTISING MANAGER, J. WALTER THOMPSON - LATE AFTERNOON
It is dark outside and the lights are on in the office. From beyond the door, we can hear the sounds of a Christmas office party in full swing.
ON JACK ACKERMAN--The advertising manager. A balding man in his mid-forties, he wears a suit, complete with vest. At the moment he sits behind his desk listening to Ted's spiel, from time to time he glances at the resume on the desk in front of him.
TED (O.S.)
So, Mr. Ackerman, as you can see from my resume, my experience in setting up the leisure package concept means that I've spent a lot of time working along the same lines as your multiple buys and your regional advertising ideas. I know the pitfalls, but --and this is more important--I know the potential revenue for the company inherent in these programs.
ON TED--as he finishes. He sits back, pleased with himself.
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM
ACKERMAN:
Well, Mr. Kramer, I must say this has been very impressive. I'd like to think about it and get back to you.

TED:
(leaning forward)
Mr. Ackerman, is there anyone else that I should see before you come to a decision.

ACKERMAN:
Mr. Spencer, our Advertising Director.

TED:
(no time to waste)
Could I see him right away?

ACKERMAN:
(taken aback)
I'm sorry, but he's leaving this evening for a two-week vacation. I'll set up something the moment he gets back.

He gets to his feet, starts to shake Ted's hand, ready to end the interview.

TED:
I'd like to see him now--before he leaves.

ACKERMAN:
Mr. Kramer, I don't think--

TED: (means it)
I want this position very much.

Ackerman gives Ted a long, considered look, then:

ACKERMAN:
Wait here. He turns and goes out the door.
LATE AFTERNOON:
The large room is crowded with secretaries, junior executives, researchers, editors, ad-men, etc., etc. They all have drinks in their hands and there is a good deal of kissing and general conviviality going on.
THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH ACKERMAN as he steps out of his office, closes the door behind him and makes his way across the room to MR. SPENCER, the Advertising Director. At the moment, Spencer stands with his coat over one arm and a drink in his hand talking to a very pretty young woman. Ackerman approaches him, whispers something in his ear. Spencer shakes his head and points to his watch. Ackerman says something else and finally, with a look of weary resignation, Spencer excuses himself from the pretty young woman and follows Ackerman back to his office. THE CAMERA FOLLOWS THEM. As Ackerman opens the door to his office, THE CAMERA IS ANGLED so that we can SEE past them, into the office where Ted stands waiting.

ACKERMAN:
(as they enter)
Mr. Spencer, Mr. Kramer.

SPENCER:
(not wasting any time)
So you're the go-getter. All right, you've got ten minutes.
As the door closes behind them, blocking our view, THE CAMERA PANS UP to a clock over the door. It reads five-fifteen.
MATCH DISSOLVE TO:
92 INT. ACKERMAN'S OFFICE - LATE AFTERNOON
ON A CLOCK--which now reads five twenty-two. THE CAMERA PULLS BACK TO REVEAL Spencer, now sitting in Ackerman's chair, his feet on Ackerman's desk. Ted has just finished his pitch.

SPENCER:
(sipping his drink)
That's very interesting, Mr. Kramer. I must say, it's very interesting. Let me think about it. I'll let Jack...
(indicating Ackerman)
...know and he'll get in touch with you.
Spencer gets to his feet, starts to retrieve his coat. ON TED--as he decides to take a gamble.

TED:
Excuse me, I believe you said I had ten minutes.
ON SPENCER--almost at the door, looking around.

SPENCER:
Well?
ON TED--checking his watch.

TED:
That means I've got two minutes left. I understand you're paying twenty-five.
Spencer nods.

TED:
(a deep breath, then a real huckster)
All right, I'll tell you what I'm gonna do--I'll take the job at twenty-two-five. Now, that's twenty-five hundred less than you're offering. The only thing is, you have to say yes right now. Not tomorrow. Not next week. Not after the holidays. It's worth it to me for a yes right now and I'll take twenty-five hundred less. There is a long beat of silence as Spencer and Ackerman look at one another. They were clearly not prepared for this.

TED:
(watching them)
Today only. One day only.
Twenty-two five.

SPENCER:
Mr. Kramer, can we talk privately for a moment?

TED: Certainly.

CUT TO:
93 OUTER OFFICE - LATE AFTERNOON
ON TED--as he steps out of Ackerman's office, sits down.
Now, all of the fear, all of the anxiety that he has been fighting down comes welling up. What if he pushed too hard? What will he do if he doesn't get a job?
If Ted Kramer could fall to his knees and pray, he would.
CROSS-CUT WITH THE CHRISTMAS PARTY-- that swirls around him. We notice in particular, one very pretty young woman flirting with a number of men. She is wearing a dress with straps, one of them has broken and she has patched it with a piece of masking tape.
Finally the door to Ackerman's office opens and he steps out.

ACKERMAN:
Mr. Kramer?
Ted jumps to his feet, starts into the office.

CUT TO:
94 INT. ACKERMAN'S OFFICE - LATE AFTERNOON
ON SPENCER--He looks at Ted carefully for a long time, then:

SPENCER:
(grins)
Welcome aboard, Mr. Kramer.
C.U. TED--There is an instant of relief, then, with astounding cool:

TED:
Well, gentlemen, I'm pleased to be with you.
ANOTHER ANGLE--as they shake hands, say their goodbyes. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH TED as he makes his way through the Christmas party that is still going strong.
Then, suddenly, as he passes the very pretty woman we noticed earlier, he turns and kisses her.
QUICK CUTS--as a look passes between them, a sudden chemistry, something we have not seen in Ted before.

TED: (steps back from the astounded girl, grins)
Merry Christmas.

CUT TO:
95 EXT. STREET - DAY
ON A BUS--as it pulls to a stop, the doors open and, along with the usual flood of mothers and children we SEE Ted and Billy. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH THEM as they walk to school. Billy is talking a mile a minute, DESCRIBING in minute detail the plot of an episode of
"I Dream of Jeannie." Ted listens intently, then, almost involuntarily, he glances over his shoulder in the direction of the Coffee Shop.

HIS P.O.V.: is Joanna.
ON TED AND BILLY--as they continue to walk. Ted's eyes remain on Joanna. As they reach the door to the school, Ted looks at his son.

TED:
(kissing Billy good-bye)
You're a terrific kid, Billy Kramer.
He stands watching as Billy rushes off into the building.
Then he turns back and once again looks in the direction of the Coffee Shop.

HIS P.O.V.:
CUT TO:
96  EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - NIGHT
ESTABLISHING SHOT--HOLD FOR A BEAT as we HEAR:

O.S. Sound:
TED'S VOICE
Hello?
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
Ted? John Shaunessy here. I just got a call from your wife's lawyer. She wants to see the kid.

CUT TO:
97  INT. KITCHEN, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
Ted Kramer, the phone cradled against his ear is cleaning up the remains of one of Billy's attempts to make the perfect peanut butter sandwich.
CLOSE ON TED--horrified.

TED:
What?! She wants what?!
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
(hw's been through this a million times)
She's the mother. That means she's within her legal rights.

TED:
(agitated)
John, what if she kidnaps him.
I've heard all these--

SHAUNESSY:
(the patience of a saint)
Look, Ted, I don't honestly think she would go to the trouble of suing you for custody of the child if she was planning on kidnapping him.

TED:
I don't know, John...I mean, to be brutally honest, I'm not so sure what kind of mental shape Joanna's in right now. Y'know she admitted she was seeing a shrink.

SHAUNESSY'S VOICE (a flicker of interest)
You ever see her talk to the walls?

TED:
No, but--
SHAUNESSY'S VOICE
Then you don't have a choice.
Have Billy at the Seventy-Fifth Street entrance to Central Park, Saturday at ten.

CUT TO:
98 EXT. FIFTH AVE. SIDE OF CENTRAL PARK - DAY
ON TED AND BILLY, TRACKING IN FRONT OF THEM as they walk along the Central Park side of Fifth Ave. From their attitude it is clear that each of them, for their own reasons, is very nervous.
TED'S P.O.V., TRACKING FORWARD: about half a block away Joanna paces back and forth. She hasn't seen them and it is clear that she is as nervous as they are.
ANOTHER ANGLE ON TED AND BILLY--Ted stops, turns to Billy and gives him a last-minute check. Then, spotting a smudge he takes his handkerchief, spits on it and wipes the child's chin. Now satisfied, he takes Billy's hand and they continue. Suddenly:
C.U. BILLY--as he spots his mother.

BILLY:
Mommy!
QUICK CUT JOANNA--as she turns, spots Billy, starts to run.
ON BILLY, TRACKING WITH HIM--as he lets go of Ted's hand and starts to run flat out toward his mother. She kneels, opens her arms wide for him and he goes barreling into her, almost knocking her down from the impact.

JOANNA:
(somewhere between laughter and tears)
Oh, Billy...Oh my Billy...Oh my son...
WIDER SHOT--Joanna gets to her feet and takes Billy's hand.

JOANNA:
(to Ted, but looking at Billy)
I'll have him back at six.
And they start off in the opposite direction.
ON TED--realizing that Billy has not said good-bye, has not looked at him once.

JUMP CUT TO:
WIDER SHOT--Ted stands helpless, watching them leave.

JUMP CUT TO:
WIDER SHOT--Ted, now almost lost from view on the crowded street, still hasn't moved.
FADE TO BLACK.

TED:
(he has become an armchair lawyer)
So, naturally, you assume that since Joanna left, that would be a compelling point against her, right?

99   OMIT
100  WIDE SHOT--Ted and Phyllis, getting ready to go to bed. They look like a couple that has been married at least five years. Ted is busy talking as he takes off his tie, jacket and starts to unbutton his shirt. Phyllis is getting undressed also, hanging things in the closet, putting things away in drawers. But as Ted continues to talk, she watches him apprehensively, it is clear that something is wrong.
PHYLLIS:
(thoughtful) Right.

TED:
But it doesn't work that way.
A major decision was handed down by the Appellate Court in 1969--in the case of Haskins vs. Haskins.

PHYLLIS:
Kramer--

TED:
Now in Haskins vs. Haskins the court ruled in favor of the mother, thus establishing a precedent for awarding the child to the mother even though she previously abandoned the baby.

PHYLLIS:
Kramer...There's something I ought to tell you.

TED:
Yeah?

PHYLLIS:
I've been offered a job in Washington with H.E.W.
CLOSE ON TED--lie stops what he is doing, turns to her.

TED: And?

PHYLLIS:
(a deep breath)
I'm going to take it.
REACTION, TED--He sits down on the bed.

PHYLLIS:
It's a very good job--too good to pass up. I'll be handling funding for the whole...
(she stops, sits beside him on the bed)
Look, I...
(she means love)
..."like" you a lot. And you...
(she means love)
..."like" me, okay? Maybe if it was a year from now, maybe things would be different...

TED:
(quiet)
But it's not a year from now, is it?
She shakes her head, then, reaches out and touches him.

PHYLLIS:
I'll miss you, Kramer...

101    INT. KRAMER APT. - DAY
ON THE FRONT DOOR-- It is open and standing in the doorway is an attractive woman, a bit overweight and very serious. This is DR. ALVAREZ, the court-appointed psychiatrist.

ALVAREZ:
Mr. Kramer?

TED:
Yes?

ALVAREZ:
I'm Dr. Alvarez, Judge Atkins asked me to look in on your son and prepare an evaluation sheet.

TED:
Oh, yes. Won't you come in.
Dr. Alvarez enters the apartment. Ted helps her off with her coat.

ALVAREZ:
Where is the child?

TED:
He's in his room, playing.

ALVAREZ:
Good. I'll see him in there.
As Ted carries her coat to the closet, Dr. Alvarez walks into the living room, looks around.

ALVAREZ:
Mr. Kramer, do you ever have sex in here with anyone?

TED:
Doctor, I attempt to conduct my social life discreetly. At the moment I am seeing no one.

ALVAREZ:
Does that distress you?

TED:
Not particularly.

ALVAREZ:
What does?

TED:
The prospect of losing my child.

ALVAREZ:
(makes some notes, then:)
Very well, I'd like to see him if I may.
They cross to the door of Billy's room. Ted opens it.
102 INT. BILLY'S ROOM - DAY

THEIR P.O.V.:
everywhere. Billy sits in the middle playing with his toys.
ON TED AND DR. ALVAREZ--They stand in the doorway.
TED:
Billy. This is Dr. Alvarez.
She would like to talk to you.

BILLY:
(looking up from his toys)
Sure.
There is an awkward pause as Ted remains in the doorway.

DR. ALVAREZ
(pointedly)
I'd like to talk to Billy privately.

TED: (embarrassed at being caught)
Oh, yeah...
Reluctantly, Ted leaves, closing the door behind him.

103 THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH HIM as he crosses the living room to the couch where he has a stack of legal books and a number of note pads spread out. He is obviously continuing his legal education. THROUGHOUT THE FOLLOWING, THE CAMERA REMAINS ON HIS FACE.

ALVAREZ (O.S.)
What do you have here, Billy?
BILLY (O.S.)
Detroit.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
Have you ever been to Detroit?
BILLY (O.S.)
No. But I've been to Brooklyn.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
I see you have people there.
What are their names?
BILLY (O.S.)
That's Kim...and this one's Thelma and that's Mrs. Willewska and this is daddy and that's Batman and over there is Robin.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
What about your mommy?
BILLY (O.S.)
Oh, sure. Here, this can be mommy.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
Do you like to be with your mommy?
Ted by now has given up all pretense of working. He wags his pencil in the direction of the door.

TED:
(the defense attorney)
Objection. You're leading the witness.
BILLY (O.S.)
Sure.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
What do you like best about her?
BILLY (O.S.)
Lunch in a restaurant.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
What do you like best about your daddy?
BILLY (O.S.)
Playing.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
Tell me, does your daddy ever hit you?
REACTION, TED--eyes wide. He starts to get up.

TED: Objection.
BILLY (O.S.)
Sure. Lots of times.
This brings Ted all the way to his feet. He starts across the living room headed for the door to Billy's room.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
(interested)
When does he hit you?
Ted has his hand on the doorknob, about to enter.
BILLY (O.S.)
He hits me on the planet Kriptarium, when I steal the buried treasure from the famous peanut butter factory.
ALVAREZ (O.S.)
In real life when does he hit you?
BILLY (O.S.)
My daddy doesn't hit me, silly. Why would my daddy hit me?

CUT TO:

104 EXT. MODERN OFFICE BUILDING, MIDTOWN - DAY
WIDE SHOT--It is a Saturday afternoon. HOLD FOR A BEAT as we SEE Ted Kramer and Billy approaching. Billy is talking a mile a minute. Ted listens intently, absorbed in the boy's description. As they turn into the entrance of the office building:

105 INT. CORRIDOR, J. WALTER THOMPSON - DAY
WIDE SHOT--A long corridor with desks for secretaries lined up next to doors leading to smaller individual offices. As they approach a door in the foreground that bears a small sign reading, "Ted Kramer":

TED:
(interrupting Billy, who is still in the middle of his story)
See. That's my name.

BILLY:
(looking at the sign)
It's my name too.

TED:
Right.
As he opens the door:

CUT TO:

106 INT. TED KRAMER'S OFFICE - DAY
It is a pleasant enough office, but nothing spectacular, windows that look out over Fifty-seventh Street, simple Formica furniture, that sort of thing. ON THE DOOR--as they enter.

BILLY:
(he stops dead in his tracks at the sight of the office)
Wow!
TED: (pleased)
You like it?

Billy crosses to the window, presses his nose to the glass, looks out.

BILLY:
Wow! Is this really where you work?

Ted nods, walks over to the desk and begins collecting paperwork to do over the weekend. As he does, Billy goes through the office, sitting in every chair, looking in every drawer.

BILLY:
Is this really your desk?

TED:
Yep.

BILLY:
Is that really your chair?

TED:
Uh huh...

BILLY:
Wow! That's neat. Can I sit in it?

TED:
Sure.

Billy plops himself down in Ted's chair, swivels around.

BILLY:
Did mommy ever see this?

TED:
No, she never did.

BILLY:
Are you going to get remarried?
TED:
I don't know. I hadn't thought much about it.

BILLY:
Are you going to remarried Phyllis?

TED:
(shaking his head)
No.
CLOSE ON BILLY--There is a long pause, then:

BILLY:
Will you and mommy get remarried? Ted stops what he is doing, looks across at Billy:

TED:
No, son. Daddy and mommy will never get remarried.

BILLY:
(looking around Ted's office)
Boy, I bet you if mommy ever saw this she'd remarried you.

CUT TO:

108 INT. BEDROOM - VERY EARLY IN THE MORNING
CLOSE ON AN ALARM CLOCK THAT SITS ON A NIGHTSTAND--As it rings, THE CAMERA PANS ACROSS and we SEE Joanna sitting in bed wide awake, smoking. As she puts out the cigarette she has been smoking and starts to get out of bed,

CUT TO:

109 INT. KITCHEN, TED KRAMER'S APT. - EARLY MORNING
ON TED--who stands with a cup of coffee in his hands, looking out the window, but not seeing anything. HOLD FOR A BEAT, then he checks his watch and starts for the bedroom.

CUT TO:
INT. JOANNA'S BEDROOM - MORNING

ON: her closet.

CUT TO:
INT. BILLY KRAMER'S BEDROOM - MORNING
WIDE SHOT--as Ted, now fully dressed, wearing a dark blue suit, white shirt, conservative tie, leans over Billy and wakes him.

CUT TO:
INT. COFFEE SHOP - MORNING
Joanna sits across from her lawyer as he talks to her, intently, giving her last-minute instructions.

CUT TO:
EXT. STREET - MORNING
ON TED KRAMER--taking Billy to school. They stop at the entrance, Ted kisses his son good-bye and stands for a moment watching as the boy runs into the building.

CUT TO:
EXT. COURTHOUSE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--It is a bleak January morning, the streets around the courthouse are mobbed with people on their way to work. We SEE Ted Kramer, a tiny figure among hundreds, coming out of the subway. He crosses the street and starts up the steps of the large and forbidding courthouse.

CUT TO:
INT. COURTHOUSE - DAY
WIDE SHOT--as Ted gets off the elevator and starts down the corridor, toward the courtroom. In the F.G., standing by the door of the courtroom itself is John Shaunessy, he greets Ted, they shake hands and talk together for a moment. Then, as they enter the courtroom:

CUT TO:
INT. COURTROOM
ON THE DOOR--as Ted enters, looks around. Mrs. Willewska sits in one of the back rows, wearing her best Easter hat. Ted pauses by her, thanks her for coming. Several rows in front of her is Thelma. Ted crosses to her, they talk quietly between themselves for a few moments. Then Ted moves on to a table at the front of the room where John Shaunessy waits.

ON THE DOORS AT THE BACK OF THE COURTROOM—as they swing open and Joanna, along with her lawyer, a MR. GRESSEN. THE CAMERA PANS WITH THEM as they walk to the front of the room and take their seats at the table opposite Ted and his lawyer.

CLERK:
Oyez, oyez...The third Circuit Court of the State of New York, Judge Atkins presiding is now in session. All rise...
WIDE SHOT--as the judge enters, takes his seat.
Opening business of the court.
WIDE SHOT--as Gressen(Joanna's lawyer) gets to his feet.

GRESSEN:
Your honor. As our first witness
I would like to call Joanna Kramer.

TWO SHOT, TED AND SHAUNESSY--The lawyer leans across to Ted.

SHAUNESSY:
(stage whisper)
Real direct. Motherhood...
They're going right for the throat.
WIDE SHOT--as Joanna gets to her feet, crosses to the witness stand and is sworn in.

Note:
CUT to Ted Kramer, leaning forward, listening intently. It becomes evident that, in spite of himself, there are moments he feels great compassion for Joanna.

GRESSEN:
Now then, Mrs. Kramer, would you tell the court how long you were married?
JOANNA:
Six years.

GRESSEN:
And would you describe those years as happy?

JOANNA:
The first couple, yes, but after that it became increasingly difficult.

GRESSEN:
Mrs. Kramer, did you ever work in a job while you were married to your ex-husband?

JOANNA:
No, I did not.

GRESSEN:
Did you wish to?

JOANNA:
Yes. I tried to talk to Ted--my ex-husband--about it, but he wouldn't listen. He refuses to discuss it in any serious way. I remember one time he said I probably couldn't get a job that would pay enough to hire a baby-sitter for Billy.

GRESSEN:
Tell me, Mrs. Kramer, are you employed at the present time?

JOANNA:
Yes, I work for Jantzen as a sportswear designer.

GRESSEN:
And what is your present salary?
JOANNA:
I make thirty-one thousand dollars a year.
REACTION TED--stunned.

GRESSEN:
(switching tactics)
Mrs. Kramer, do you love your child?

JOANNA: (emphatically)
Yes.  Very much.

GRESSEN:
And yet you chose to leave him?
There is a long pause, then:

JOANNA: (speaking carefully, with great thought) Yes...Look, during the last five years we were married, I had...I was getting more and more...unhappy, more and more frustrated.  I needed to talk to somebody.  I needed to find out if it was me, if I was going crazy or what.  But every time I turned to Ted--my ex-husband, he couldn't handle it.  He became very...I don't know, very threatened.  I mean, whenever I would bring up anything he would act like it was some kind of personal attack.  Anyway, we became more and more separate ...more and more isolated from one another.  Finally, I had no other choice, I had to leave.
And because of my ex-husband's attitude--his unwillingness to deal with my feelings, I had come to have almost no self-esteem...
(with feeling)
At the time I left, I sincerely believed that there was something wrong with me--that my son would be better off without me. It was only when I got to California and started into therapy I began to realize I wasn't a terrible person. And that just because I needed some creative and emotional outlet other than my child, that didn't make me unfit to be a mother.

GRESSEN:
(to the judge)
Your honor, I would like to place in evidence a report on Mrs. Kramer's therapy by her therapist, Dr. Elinore Freedman of La Jolla, California.
And with that he hands both the judge and Shaunessy a thick sheaf of papers. Then, turning his attention back to Joanna:

to Joanna:

GRESSEN:
Mr. Kramer, why did you set up residence in New York?

JOANNA:
Because my son is here. And his father is here. As a mother, I don't want my child to be separated from his father.

GRESSEN:
Mrs. Kramer, can you tell the court why you are asking for custody? There is a pause, then:
JOANNA:
Because he's my child...Because I love him. I know I left my son, I know that's a terrible thing to do. Believe me, I have to live with that every day of my life. But just because I'm a woman, don't I have a right to the same hopes and dreams as a man? Don't I have a right to a life of my own? Is that so awful? Is my pain any less just because I'm a woman? Are my feelings any cheaper? I left my child--I know there is no excuse for that. But since then, I have gotten help. I have worked hard to become a whole human being. I don't think I should be punished for that. I don't think my son should be punished for that. Billy's only six. He needs me. I'm not saying he doesn't need his father, but he needs me more. I'm his mother.

There is a beat of silence, then:

GRESSEN:
Thank you, Mrs. Kramer. I have no further questions.

ON SHAUNESSY--as he stands, collects his papers from the table and, taking his own sweet time, crosses to Joanna.

SHAUNESSY:
Now then, Mrs. Kramer, you said you were married seven years. Is that correct?

JOANNA:
Yes.

SHAUNESSY:
In all that time did your husband ever strike you or abuse you physically in any way.

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
Did your husband strike or physically abuse his child in any way?

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
Would you describe your husband as an alcoholic?

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
A heavy drinker?

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
Was he unfaithful?

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
Did he ever fail to provide for you?

JOANNA:
No.

SHAUNESSY:
(wry smile)
Well, I can certainly understand why you left him.
GRESSEN: Objection.

SHAUNESSY:
(switching his line of questioning)
How long do you plan to live in New York, Mrs. Kramer?

JOANNA: Permanently.

Note:
examination, Joanna has been very forthright, very sure of herself. Now, as he starts getting tougher, she begins to falter.

SHAUNESSY: Permanently?
(smiles, like a shark smiles)
Mrs. Kramer, how many boyfriends have you had--permanently?
ON JOANNA--Her head snaps back as though she's been hit.

JOANNA:
I don't recall.

SHAUNESSY:
(boring in)
How many lovers have you had--permanently?

JOANNA:
(looks toward Gressen for help)
I don't recall.

SHAUNESSY:
More than three, less than thirty-three--permanently?
ON GRESSEN--He is again on his feet, outraged.
GRESSEN: Objection!

JUDGE:
Overruled. The witness will answer, please.

JOANNA:
(almost a whisper)
Somewhere in between.

SHAUNESSY:
Do you have a lover now?

GRESSEN:
(furious) Objection!

SHAUNESSY:
(to the judge)
Your honor, I would request a direct answer to a direct question. Does she have a lover?

JUDGE:
I'll allow that. The witness will answer please.

JOANNA:
(in a whisper)
Yes.

SHAUNESSY:
Is that...permanent?

JOANNA:
(by now she is becoming thoroughly rattled)
I...I don't know...

SHAUNESSY:
Then, we don't really know, do we, when you say "permanently" if you're planning to remain in New York, or even to keep the child for that matter, since you've never really done anything in your life that was continuing, stable, that could be regarded as permanent.
ON THE PETITIONER'S TABLE--Gressen jumps to his feet.

GRESSEN:
Objection! I must ask that the counsel be prevented from harassing the witness.

JUDGE: Sustained.

SHAUNESSY:
(a new attack)
Mrs. Kramer, how can you consider yourself a fit mother when you have been a failure at virtually every relationship you have undertaken as an adult?

GRESSEN:
(red in the face) Objection!

JUDGE: Sustained.

SHAUNESSY:
I'll ask it another way. What was the longest personal relationship you have had in your life--other than parents and girlfriends?

JOANNA:
(rattled)
Ah...I guess I'd have to say... with my child.
SHAUNESSY:
(wonder, irony)
Whom you've seen twice in a year?
Mrs. Kramer, your ex-husband, wasn't he the longest personal relationship in your life?

JOANNA:
(reluctantly)
I suppose...

SHAUNESSY:
Would you speak up, Mrs. Kramer?
I couldn't hear you.

JOANNA: (louder)
Yes.

SHAUNESSY:
How long was that?

JOANNA:
We were married two years before the baby. And then four very difficult years.

SHAUNESSY:
So, you were a failure at the longest, most important relationship in your life.

GRESSEN: Objection!

JUDGE:
Overruled.

JOANNA:
I was not a failure.

SHAUNESSY:
(sarcastic)
Oh? What do you call it then
--a success? The marriage ended in divorce.

JOANNA:
(so angry she forgets her cool)
I consider it less my failure than his.

SHAUNESSY:
(seizes on this)
Congratulations, Mrs. Kramer. You have just rewritten matrimonial law. You were both divorced, Mrs. Kramer.

GRESSEN:
(on his feet)
Objection!

SHAUNESSY:
(to the judge)
Your honor, I'd like to ask what this model of stability and respectability has ever succeeded at? (to Joanna)
Mrs. Kramer, were you a failure at the longest, most important personal relationship in your life? CLOSE ON JOANNA--who sits silently.

JUDGE:
Please answer the question, Mrs. Kramer.

JOANNA:
(whisper)
It did not succeed.

SHAUNESSY:
(suddenly fierce)
Not it...Not it, Mrs. Kramer--you. Were you a failure at the most important personal relationship of your life?
CLOSER IN ON JOANNA--Silence.

SHAUNESSY:
Were you?
EXTREME CLOSE UP JOANNA

JOANNA:
(barely audible)
Yes.
WIDE SHOT--Shaunessy smiles, turns his back on Joanna and walks back toward the respondent's table.

SHAUNESSY:
No further questions.
CLOSER IN ON THE TABLE--as Shaunessy sits down next to Ted.

TED:
(leaning over, in a whisper)
Jesus Christ. Did you have to be so rough on her?

SHAUNESSY:
(tough)
Do you want the kid or don't you?
ON JOANNA--shaken, she gets down from the witness stand, crosses to the petitioner's table without looking at Ted. She sits, leans across to her lawyer and whispers something in his ear. As he nods,

CUT TO:
116A INT. COURTROOM, LATER IN THE DAY
ON JIM O'CONNOR--who sits in the witness stand. At the moment he is being examined by Gressen.

GRESSEN:
Now then, Mr. O'Connor, how long did Ted Kramer work for you?
O'CONNOR
Eight, almost nine years.
GRESSEN:
And did you have a close personal relationship?
O'CONNOR
(in a whisper)
Yes...

GRESSEN:
And how did you find his work?
O'CONNOR
It was good. He was a hard worker, a lot of drive, a real hustler.

GRESSEN:
And yet you fired him.
There is a long pause.
O'CONNOR
(looking down)
Ted was a good worker. But, ah...
... after his wife left him and he was taking care of the kid on his own, things started to change.
Look, I know he had problems, I understand that. I've got problems, everybody's got problems. But I've got a shop to run, I can't let that kind of thing get in the way...
(quietly)
I guess I felt that Ted was letting his duties at home interfere with his responsibilities in the office.

GRESSEN:
Thank you. I have no further questions.
Shaunessy stands up.

SHAUNESSY:
Mr. O'Connor, does the agency still have the Fire and Ice account?
O'CONNOR
(up tight)
No.
SHAUNESSY:
Mr. O'Connor, can you tell me where you are employed at the moment?

O'CONNOR
(stiff)
At the moment I am unemployed.

ON THE JUDGE:

JUDGE:
If the petitioner has no further witnesses, we will hear the respondent tomorrow morning at 9:

CUT TO:
117   INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
WIDE SHOT--Ted sits at the dining table poring over law books, writing copious notes on a legal pad. Billy sits across from him drawing in a pad with magic markers.
HOLD FOR A BEAT as Billy looks up at his father. It is clear that something is bothering him.

BILLY:
Mom--I mean, dad?

TED:
(not looking up)
Uh, huh?

BILLY:
What did you do when you were little?

TED: (still involved in his books)
I guess about the same kind of things you do.

BILLY:
Did you watch "I Dream of Jeannie?"
TED:
(distracted)
Uh, uh... We didn't have television then.
ON BILLY--eyes wide. He finds this hard to believe.

BILLY:
You didn't have T.V.?
ON TED--He looks up for the first time, smiles.

TED:
Nope. It hadn't been invented yet.
He starts to go back to work.

BILLY:
(this is serious business)
Was there apple juice when you were little?

TED:
Yeah, there was apple juice.

BILLY: Was there Burger King?

TED:
Uh, uh. There was no such a thing as Burger King.

BILLY:
What else wasn't there?
ON TED--He takes a long look at his son, then closes the law book, puts his notes away.

TED:
Well, let's see... There wasn't McDonald's. And there wasn't astronauts... And there wasn't frozen yogurt. And there wasn't...
As he continues on about what wasn't, we

FADE TO BLACK:
118  EXT. COURTHOUSE - DAY
ESTABLISHING SHOT
119   INT. COURTROOM - DAY
ON THELMA--She sits in the witness stand being examined by Shaunessy. From her attitude it is clear that she is very wrought up, that all of this is taking a heavy emotional toll on her.

SHAUNESSY:
Mrs. Phillips, how long have you known Ted Kramer?

THELMA:
Six years. Ever since Ted and Joanna moved into the building.

SHAUNESSY:
How often do you see Mr. Kramer and his son?

THELMA:
(to the judge, by way of explanation)
Charley, my husband, and I are divorced and Kim, that's our daughter is about Billy's age and the children play together a lot. So, I guess we see each three or four times a week.

SHAUNESSY:
Can you describe the relationship between Mr. Kramer and his son?

THELMA:
It's beautiful. It's just beautiful. They have a beautiful relationship. ON GRESSEN--getting wearily to his feet.

GRESSEN:
(patronizing)
Objection, your honor. The answer is, to be generous, very vague.

SHAUNESSY:
Can you recall any particular incident that relates to Mr. Kramer's care of his child?

THELMA:
(fighting a losing battle with her emotions)
Ted--Mr. Kramer, spends a great deal of time with his child. I don't just mean hours, I mean good time, involved time. He reads to Billy. They play together. They talk all the time...
(tears start)
He is a very...kind man...a very...devoted father, and...and...
(she turns to Joanna)
And Joanna if you ever saw them together...there wouldn't be a trial at all...
(she breaks down, weeping)
Oh, shit...I'm sorry...I'm sorry...

Note:
staring at her friend, shaken.

SHAUNESSY:
(gently)
No further questions. Thank you Mrs. Phillips.

GRESSEN:
(without looking up from his notes)
No questions.
Theelma leaves the stand and walks back to her seat.

CUT TO:
120   INT. COURTROOM - DAY
ON TED KRAMER--sitting in the witness stand.

SHAUNESSY:
Mr. Kramer, would you tell the court exactly why you want to retain custody of your child.

TED:
(speaking quietly)
When Joanna-- (to the judge, correcting himself) my ex-wife--when she was talking before about how unhappy she was during our marriage...Well, I guess most of what she said was probably true. There were a lot of things I didn't understand-- a lot of things I would do different if I could. Just like I guess there are a lot of things Joanna wishes she could change...But we can't. Some things, once they are done, can't be undone. Joanna says she loves Billy. I believe she does. So do I. But the way it was explained to me, that's not the issue. The only thing that's supposed to matter here is what's best for Billy...When Joanna said why shouldn't a woman have the same ambitions as a man, I suppose she's right. But by the same token what law is it that says a woman is a better parent simply by virtue of her sex? I guess I've had to think a lot about whatever it is that makes somebody a good parent:
constancy, patience, understanding ...love. Where is it written that a man has any less of those qualities than a woman? Billy has a home with me, I've tried to make it the best I could. It's not perfect. I'm not a perfect parent.
(unconsciously echoing something Joanna said earlier)
I don't have enough patience.
Sometimes I forget he's just a little kid...But I love him...
More than anything in this world
I love him.

SHAUNESSY:
Thank you, Mr. Kramer. No further questions.
ON GRESSEN--as he gets up from the petitioner's table and crosses to the witness stand.

GRESSEN:
(hard-lining it)
Mr. Kramer, by any chance have you ever had a woman in your bed while your child was asleep in the next room?

TED:
I suppose.

GRESSEN:
(pointedly)
So do I.

SHAUNESSY: Objection!

JUDGE: Sustained.

GRESSEN:
(switching to another line of attack)
Mr. Kramer, isn't it true that you were fired from your last job not more than six weeks ago?

TED:
(not losing his cool)
Technically, the agency lost a big account and seventy four people were let go. I was one of them.

GRESSEN:
(snotty)
You were fired, correct?

TED:
Yes, but I'm with J. Walter Thompson now. I don't think that will happen again.

GRESSEN:
(snide)
Give them time...

SHAUNESSY:
Objection, your honor! Counsel is harassing the witness.

GRESSEN:
(to the judge, pettish)
Your honor, I'm only examining the man's employment record. He pretends to fitness when he cannot hold a job.

JUDGE: Sustained.
ON GRESSEN--He is thoughtful for a moment, like a man trying to decide whether or not to drop the bomb. Then, turning back to Ted:

GRESSEN:
(very tough)
Mr. Kramer, did your child nearly lose an eye when he was in your care?
REACTION, TED--stunned. He looks across at Joanna.
QUICK CUT, HIS P.O.V.: Joanna looks away.

GRESSEN:
(boring in)
Mr. Kramer, did you, or did you not tell the child's mother that you were responsible for the injury that permanently disfigured your child?

Shaunessy is on his feet racing toward the bench.

SHAUNESSY:
(vehement)
Objection! Your honor, counsel is raising a question that is not germane to these proceedings.

GRESSEN:
(to the judge)
While the child was in the care of the witness, he cut his face badly and is now scarred.

JUDGE: (to Gressen)
Are you introducing the question of negligence here, counselor?

GRESSEN:
Yes, your honor.

JUDGE:
I see. Well, you'll have to do better than that. Do you have any affidavits to support negligence?

GRESSEN:
I do not, your honor, however--

JUDGE:
This is an isolated incident, counselor, unless you can prove otherwise.

GRESSEN:
(back to Ted)
Does the witness deny the injury took place?

JUDGE: (before Ted can say anything)
No, counselor, I'm going to overrule you on this line of questioning.

GRESSEN:
Then I have concluded my questions.
ON THE PETITIONER'S TABLE--Joanna sits, still not looking at Ted. She holds her face, one hand shielding her eyes.

CUT TO:
ON THE JUDGE--as he makes his closing statement.

CUT TO:
121   INT. MAIN LOBBY, COURTHOUSE - DAY WIDE SHOT--Shaunessy and Ted stand talking, reviewing the case. Then the two men shake hands, the lawyer waves goodbye, turns and starts back into the building. THE CAMERA PANS WITH TED as he walks toward the main exit.

CUT TO:
122   EXT. MAIN ENTRANCE, COURTHOUSE - DAY
ON TED--as he comes out of the building, starts down the steps.
JOANNA (O.S.)
Ted.

He stops, turns:

HIS P.O.V.:
CLOSE ON TED--his face a mask of cold anger. She crosses to him.

JOANNA:
I'm sorry...I just mentioned it in passing. I never thought he'd use it.

TED:
(sarcastic)
Yeah, well he did, didn't he.
JOANNA:
Please, Ted. I never would have brought it up if I thought--

TED:
I'm not interested, Joanna.
Goodbye.
WIDE SHOT--as he turns and walks away from her, leaving her standing, watching him as he disappears.

CUT TO:
123   EXT. STREET - DAY
ON TED AND THELMA--It is a bleak winter's day. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH THEM as they walk along, Ted carrying a bag of groceries, Thelma with cleaning. The children run around them, playing.

THELMA:
You heard anything yet?

TED:
(shakes his head)
Any day.
They walk in silence for several beats, each clearly lost in their own thoughts. Then:

THELMA:
Ted.

TED: (preoccupied)
Uh, huh...

THELMA:
(this is hard to say)
Ah, Charley and I are...Well, we're thinking about...I mean, actually we're sort of talking about maybe getting back together.

TED:
(thunderstruck)
You and Charley?
Thelma nods.

TED: Really?
Thelma nods.

TED:
(conflicting emotions)
Hey, that's terrific.

THELMA:
(hastily)
Maybe. I said maybe.
(apologizing for her good fortune)
What I mean is, ah...I don't think it'll really work out, but Charley seems to want it, so...
She leaves the sentence unfinished. They walk in silence for several more steps. Then she takes his hand.

THELMA:
(can't help grinning)
Oh, God...Ted, I am really scared.
They walk in silence for a beat, then Ted looks O.S., spots something:

HIS P.O.V.:
with his daughter who is also bored. It is clear that they have nothing to say to one another. He looks around, spots Ted, waves and starts in his direction.
C.U. TED--He reacts as though he has seen a vision of his own death.

TED:
(to Thelma, urgent) C'mon.
(to Billy and Kim)
Billy, Kim. Let's go.
WIDE SHOT--as Ted ushers them across the street, away from the Saturday Father.

CUT TO:
INT. MEN'S BAR, MIDTOWN - DAY
A crowded, rather posh watering spot. Shaunessy sits alone at a table for two, a drink in front of him.
REVERSE ON THE DOOR--as Ted enters, spots Shaunessy and starts in his direction.
CLOSER ON SHAUNESSY'S TABLE--as Ted sits down.

TED:
Well?
ON SHAUNESSY--as he looks up at Ted, says nothing.
ON TED--He realizes that they have lost.

TED:
Oh, Christ!
CROSS-CUTTING BETWEEN THEM

SHAUNESSY:
The judge went for motherhood straight down the line.

TED:
I lost him? I lost him?

SHAUNESSY:
I can't tell you how sorry I am.

TED:
Oh, no..

SHAUNESSY:
(reading from a piece of paper)
Ordered, adjudged and decreed that the petitioner be awarded custody of the minor child, effective Monday the 23rd of January. That the respondent pay for the maintenance and support of said child, four hundred dollars each month. That the father shall have the following rights of visitation: every other weekend, one night each week to be mutually agreed upon and one half of the child's vacation period.
(looks up at Ted) That's it.

TED:
(grim)
What if I fight it?

SHAUNESSY:
(matter of factly)
We can appeal, but I can't guarantee anything.

TED:
(determined)
I'll take my chances.

SHAUNESSY:
It's going to cost.

TED:
(his mind is made up)
Don't worry. I'll get the money.
There is a beat of silence, then:

SHAUNESSY:
I've got to tell you something, Ted. This time it'll be Billy that pays. This time I'll have to put him on the stand.
CLOSE ON TED--as his last hope goes crashing to the ground.

TED:
Oh, Christ no...I can't do that.
I just...can't...
(he looks up at the lawyer in despair)
Excuse me...I'm sorry...I just...
That is all Ted can manage to say. He gets to his feet and rushes for the door.

CUT TO:
125   EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - DAY
ON THE ENTRANCE--as Mrs. Willewska comes out. Her eyes are red from crying. THE CAMERA PANS WITH HER as she turns up the street on her way to pick up Billy from school. THE CAMERA HOLDS IN POSITION as she meets Thelma. They stand talking for a moment, then Thelma turns and starts to run toward the building.

CUT TO:
126   INT. HALLWAY, OUTSIDE TED'S APT. - DAY
ON THE ELEVATOR DOORS--They open and Thelma steps out. She runs to the door, begins to knock.

THELMA:
(calling out)
Ted!...It's me...Ted?...
There is a beat of silence, then:
TED (0.5.)
(very quiet)
Please go away, Thel...I...I just have to be by myself for a little while...

THELMA:
Ted, I just heard...
TED (O.S.)
Please, Thel...
Thelma leans against the door and begins to sob.

THELMA:
I'm so...sorry...Oh, Ted, I'm so sorry...

FADE TO BLACK:

FADE IN:
127   EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - DAY
WIDE SHOT--as Mrs. Willewska brings Billy back from school.

CUT TO:
128   INT. KRAMER APT. - DAY
ON THE FRONT DOOR--It opens and Billy and Mrs. Willewska enter. Billy sees Ted and rushes across to him.

BILLY:
(excited)
Daddy! You're home early. Did you get fired again?

TED:
(laughing in spite of himself)
No, son, I didn't get fired.
(fake cheerful)
I'll tell you what we'll do, okay? How about if we go to a Burger King and then we watch a little T.V. and then we get packed to go to the country tomorrow. Just you and me...How 'bout that?

CUT TO:
129   EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - NIGHT
ESTABLISHING SHOT--HOLD FOR A BEAT, then:

CUT TO:
130   INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - NIGHT
ON TED--He sits at the dining table, a typewriter in front of him. As he begins to type, hunt and peck system, we:

CUT TO:
INSERT, HIS P.O.V.: The page in the typewriter. We SEE and HEAR at the same time.
TED (V.O.)
Joanna...This is by way of introducing William Kramer. He is a sweet child, as you will see. He is allergic to grape juice, but will more than make up for the loss in apple juice. He is also allergic to peanut butter from the health food store, but not from the supermarket. Don't ask me why.

CUT TO:
131   EXT. STREET - DAY
ON A CORNER MAILBOX--as Ted mails the letter.

TED (V.O.)
At times, in the night he will have nightmares, one particular monster is called The Face. The Face, as best as I can determine, looks like a circus clown without a body, and from what the pediatrician says, and what I have read, may be sexual fear of losing his penis, or a fear of his own anger, or just a circus clown he saw once.

CUT TO:
132  EXT. STREET - DAY
ON THE SAME MAILBOX--as a sack of mail is loaded into a truck.
TED (V.O.)
His doctor, by the way, is still Ed Davies. The Sundafed is for colds, one tablespoon every four hours. I will pack it in the blue suitcase.

CUT TO:
133  EXT. JOANNA KRAMER'S APT. BLDG. - DAY WIDE SHOT--A postman enters the building carrying a bag of mail.
TED (V.O.)
His best stories have been Babar and Winnie the Pooh up to now, with Batman moving up. His housekeeper has been Etta Willewska and she is the main reason for the note.
She is a loving woman, conscientious, very concerned about Billy and more important, Billy cares about her.

CUT TO:
134  INT. HALLWAY, JOANNA'S APT. BLDG. - DAY
ON A STACK OF MAIL--as it is dropped in front of a doorway. We see that the letter from Ted to Joanna is on top.
TED (V.O.)
I urge you to retain her. Her number is 722-8099, and I think she will take the job if it is offered. I'm sure other things will come up. Ask me what you need to and I guess eventually we'll talk...

CUT TO:
135   INT. JOANNA'S APT. - DAY
ON HER--as she finishes reading the letter.
TED (V.O.)
That's all I can think of, except to repeat what I said before, he's a terrific kid. I'm grateful for the time we've had together and I feel I am a better man because of my son...Ted.

CUT TO:
136   EXT. BEACH - DAY
It is a clear, cold beautiful winter's day. Ted and Billy walk along the beach at the edge of the water. THE CAMERA TRACKS WITH THEM. There are several beats of silence as Ted tries to think of how to begin.

Finally:

TED:
Billy, sometimes when a mother and a father are divorced, there's a discussion about who the child should live with, the mother or the father. Now there is a man who is very wise. He's called a judge. And a judge has a lot of experience with divorces and he decides who it would be best for the child to live with.

BILLY:
Why does he decide?
TED: Because...Well, that's what he does. He's a very powerful man.

BILLY: Like a principal?

TED: Bigger than a principal. The judge sits in robes in a big chair. The judge has thought a lot about us, about you and me and your mom, and he has decided...

(a deep breath)

...he has decided that it would be best for you to live with your mom Joanna in her apartment.

(fake cheerful)

And I'm very lucky. Because even though you'll live with your mom Joanna I'll get to see you once a week for dinner and a couple of weekends a month.

BILLY: I don't understand, daddy.

TED: (trying very hard not to cry)

What don't you understand, pal?

BILLY: Where will my bed be, where will I sleep?

TED: At your mom's. She'll have a bed for you in your own room.

BILLY: Where will my toys be?

TED:
I'll send your toys there and
I'm sure you'll get some new ones.

BILLY:
Who will read me my stories?

TED:
Your mom.

BILLY: (worried)
Daddy, what if The Face comes when I'm at mommy's?

TED:
Your mom knows all about The Face, okay? Don't worry, she'll tell
The Face to beat it.

BILLY:
Will you come and say good-night
to me every night?
Suddenly Ted can't stand it any longer.

TED:
Look, it's getting cold. Why don't you go inside where it's warm. I'll be along in a minute.
Billy hangs back, watching Ted.

TED:
Go on, scoot.
The boy turns and runs back along the beach toward the house. Then, he stops, turns back to look once more at his father.

HIS P.O.V.:
his back to CAMERA, weeping.

FADE TO BLACK:
137   EXT. KRAMER APT. BLDG. - DAY
WIDE SHOT--It is early Monday morning.

CUT TO:
138   INT. KRAMER KITCHEN - MORNING
ON TED AND BILLY--They stand side by side, like a surgeon and his assistant. Spread out on the counter in front of them are the makings of French toast. The following is done with great efficiency, in contrast to the first time we saw them go through the same ritual. They work in silence except for an occasional command. Each concentrating on this last moment of closeness, each doing his best to avoid thinking about Billy's departure. Finally:
ON BILLY--looking at his father, trying to memorize the older man's face.
Ted turns, sees his son watching him.

TED:
(with false gaiety)
Hey? What's doin' with that bread? Let's see a little hustle around here.

CUT TO:
139   INT. LIVING ROOM, KRAMER APT. - MORNING
WIDE SHOT--Billy's bags are packed and stacked neatly in the living room. Nearby, Billy and his father sit, silent, waiting.

Sound-effect:
CLOSER IN ON TED AND BILLY--Ted looks at his son, smiles. The boy smiles back.

TED:
This is it, pal.
Billy, fighting back tears, nods.

Sound-effect:
Ted gets to his feet and starts toward the foyer.

CUT TO:
140   INT. FOYER - DAY
As Ted picks up the intercom:

TED:
Yes?
JOANNA'S VOICE
Ted, it's Joanna. Can you meet me in the lobby?...Alone?
And she hangs up before he can answer.

TED: (to Mrs. Willewska, in the kitchen)
I'll be back in a minute.

CUT TO:
141 INT. LOBBY - DAY
ON THE ELEVATOR DOORS--as they open, Ted steps out, looks around.

HIS P.O.V.:
from the window. Joanna sits off to one side, wearing sunglasses. She looks up as Ted approaches, a small smile on her face.

TED: (abrupt) Okay, I'm here. Now why did you--

JOANNA:
Ted, do you love him?

TED:
Goddamnit, Joanna. What the--

JOANNA:
(insistent)
Ted, do you love him?
He nods.

JOANNA:
I love him too...I don't think I ever knew how much until now.
There is a long pause as she looks at Ted, unable to speak. Finally:

JOANNA:
(a deep breath, then:)
Ted, when we got married it was because I was twenty-seven years old and I thought I should get married and...when I had Billy it was because I thought I should have a baby...and I guess all I did was mess up my life and your life and--

TED:
Joanna, what the hell is--

JOANNA:
(urgent)
Please...Please don't stop me. This is the hardest thing I've ever had to do..
ON TED--struck by the urgency in her voice.

JOANNA:
After I left...when I was in California, I began to think, what kind of mother was I that I could walk out on my own child. It got to where I couldn't tell anybody about Billy--I couldn't stand that look in their faces when I said he wasn't living with me. Finally it seemed like the most important thing in the world to come back here and prove to Billy and to me and to the world how much I loved him...And I did...And I won. Only...it was just another "should."
(she begins to break down)
...Sitting in that courtroom. Hearing everything you did, everything you went through...Something happened. I guess it doesn't matter how much I love him, or how much you love him. I guess it's like you said, the only thing that counts is what's... best for Billy. I don't know, maybe that's all love is anyway...
Ted, I think Billy should stay with you...

TED: (stunned)
What?

JOANNA:
(she reaches out, takes his hand)
He's already got one mother, he doesn't need two...He's yours...
(her last ounce of reserve crumbles)
I won't fight you for him any more. He's yours...

TED:
Oh, God...Oh, my God...

JOANNA:
Only can I still see him?

TED:
No more waiting in Coffee Shops...I promise.
Joanna's last ounce of reserve crumbles, she begins to sob. Ted puts his arms around her and holds her. They do not kiss. Then, after a few moments she steps back.

JOANNA:
(chin high)
Okay...I think I'll go talk to my son now.
(wiping her eyes)
How do I look?

TED:
Beautiful.
They step into the elevator and, as the doors close, blocking them from view, we DISSOLVE TO:
142  EXT. STREET - DAY
ON TED AND BILLY, TRACKING JUST IN FRONT OF THEM--as they walk to the park. They are deep in conversation, although we are too far away to bear what they are saying. HOLD ON THEM and, as they reach the entrance to the park, Billy first, then Ted begin to run, overwhelmed with the sheer joy of being alive, of being together. As they continue to run, THE CAMERA PULLS BACK AND UP AND WE SEE that they are only two among thousands of parents and children in Central Park on a sunny afternoon. THE CAMERA CONTINUES TO PULL BACK until they are lost from view and it is FADE OUT.
