Finding Dory: Marine Life Interviews

By Andrew Stanton

Who are we talking about?

Oh!

Yeah, that little fish who crossed the ocean to find her parents.

Her parents!

Oh, yeah. No, no, I've known her since she was a cute little guppy.

When I met her, I don't know,
I kind of got a strange first impression.
I'll be honest, the second impression wasn't much better.

Well, I don't...

Look, I don't want to brag,
but I could sense her before I saw her.

No, I'm not kidding.

Yeah, I have this thing called echolocation.

Well, it's...

You know what, rather than explain it,
I can give you a little.

Sure. Uh, if you could just give me a little bit of room.

Thank you so much.

Okay.

She never said a mean word to anyone.

- Always kind.

- Always kind.

- Always forgiving.

- Always forgiving.

- Yeah, a giant heart.

- Giant heart.

Yeah.

Okay, here we go.

Just a sec.

Just a sec.

This never happens.

Somebody wearing metal?

You know, it's funny,

I thought she didn't like me at first
'cause she could never remember my name.

But then I realised

she never remembered anyone's name.

You have got to want it.

You got to want it. Get in there!
Here we go.
Now, I'm feeling it. And there it goes.
I don't know what's happening,
and I apologise.
Here's the thing though.
I don't usually care for upbeat so much,
but she grew on me, okay?
She tends to grow on you,
whether you like it or not.
I am quite large.
She used to play
Hide and Go Seek in my mouth.
Olly, olly, oxen free.
Mmm, I don't remember any of that.
