coverage of the tragedy that rocked Los Angeles yesterday evening. At approximately 8 p.m. Pacific Standard Time the L.A. city coroner declared the superhero known as Major Vaunt dead. Listing the cause of death as the giant gaping hole in his body. His murder comes at the hands of someone calling herself the Empress of Evil. It would appear she is the first super villain to have emerged since the end of the Shadow War. We're joined by two different perspectives this morning. First, from Los Angeles, it's Electra Woman.

HOLY CANNOLI:

WALLACE:

what happened last night? A real-life super villain? Should we be worried?

mean a super villain? You gotta be kidding me. Get out of here with that. But from our perspective, although we've got much love for the L.A. union, we can't really get involved in all that. We got our own things to take care of here. And no disrespect, but I mean, her beef really does seem to be with L.A. So it's not even our place.
